Very wealthy persons (Rika personer)

Sorce/källa: wikipedia / språk blandat engelska / svenska / mix English and Swedish

Jacob Fugger1459–1525

German merchant, mining entrepreneur and banker. He expanded Fugger family's assets by making their operations European wide. At one point, Fugger & family had an almost monopolistic hold on the European copper market.[10] At his death, Jakob Fugger bequeathed to his nephew Anton Fugger company assets totaling 2,032,652 guilders. Referred to as "Fugger the Rich".
Net worth (billion 2010 USD) 400 billion USD.

John D. Rockefeller

On September 29, 1916, Rockefeller became the first person ever to reach a nominal personal fortune of US$1 billion (equivalent to US$16 billion in 2016). Rockefeller amassed his fortune from the Standard Oil company, of which he was a founder, chairman and major shareholder. By the time of his death in 1937, estimates place his net worth in the range of US$300 billion to US$400 billion in adjusted dollars for the late 2000s (decade). When considering the real value of his wealth, Rockefeller is widely held to have been the wealthiest American, as well as the richest person in modern history.

Bo Jonsson (Grip) 1335 - 1386

Bo Jonsson (Grip), född senast i början av 1335, död 20 augusti 1386, var väpnare, riksråd, drots och därmed under sin levnad en av de mäktigaste i Sverige näst kungen, Magnus Eriksson och senare kung Albrekt av Mecklenburg. Hans föräldrar var Jon Tomasson (Grip) och Ingeborg Bosdotter (Natt och Dag). Han har gett namn åt Gripsholms slott.
Hans godsmassa, till största delen bestående av pantlån, omfattade över 1/3 av Sverige och hela Finland. Bo Jonsson som kom från en rik adelsläkt, lånade ut stora summor pengar till kung Magnus Eriksson och när kungen inte kunde betala tillbaka lånte han dem istället med jordegendomar.
1500 gårdar, ett antal borgar och slott (Kalmar, Gripsholm, Nyköping, samt stora delar av Finland, ingick i förmögenheten.
Bo Jonsson var den störste icke kungliga jordinnehavaren någonsin i Sverige. Ingen annan svensk (omräknat till dagens värden) lär ha varit rikare.

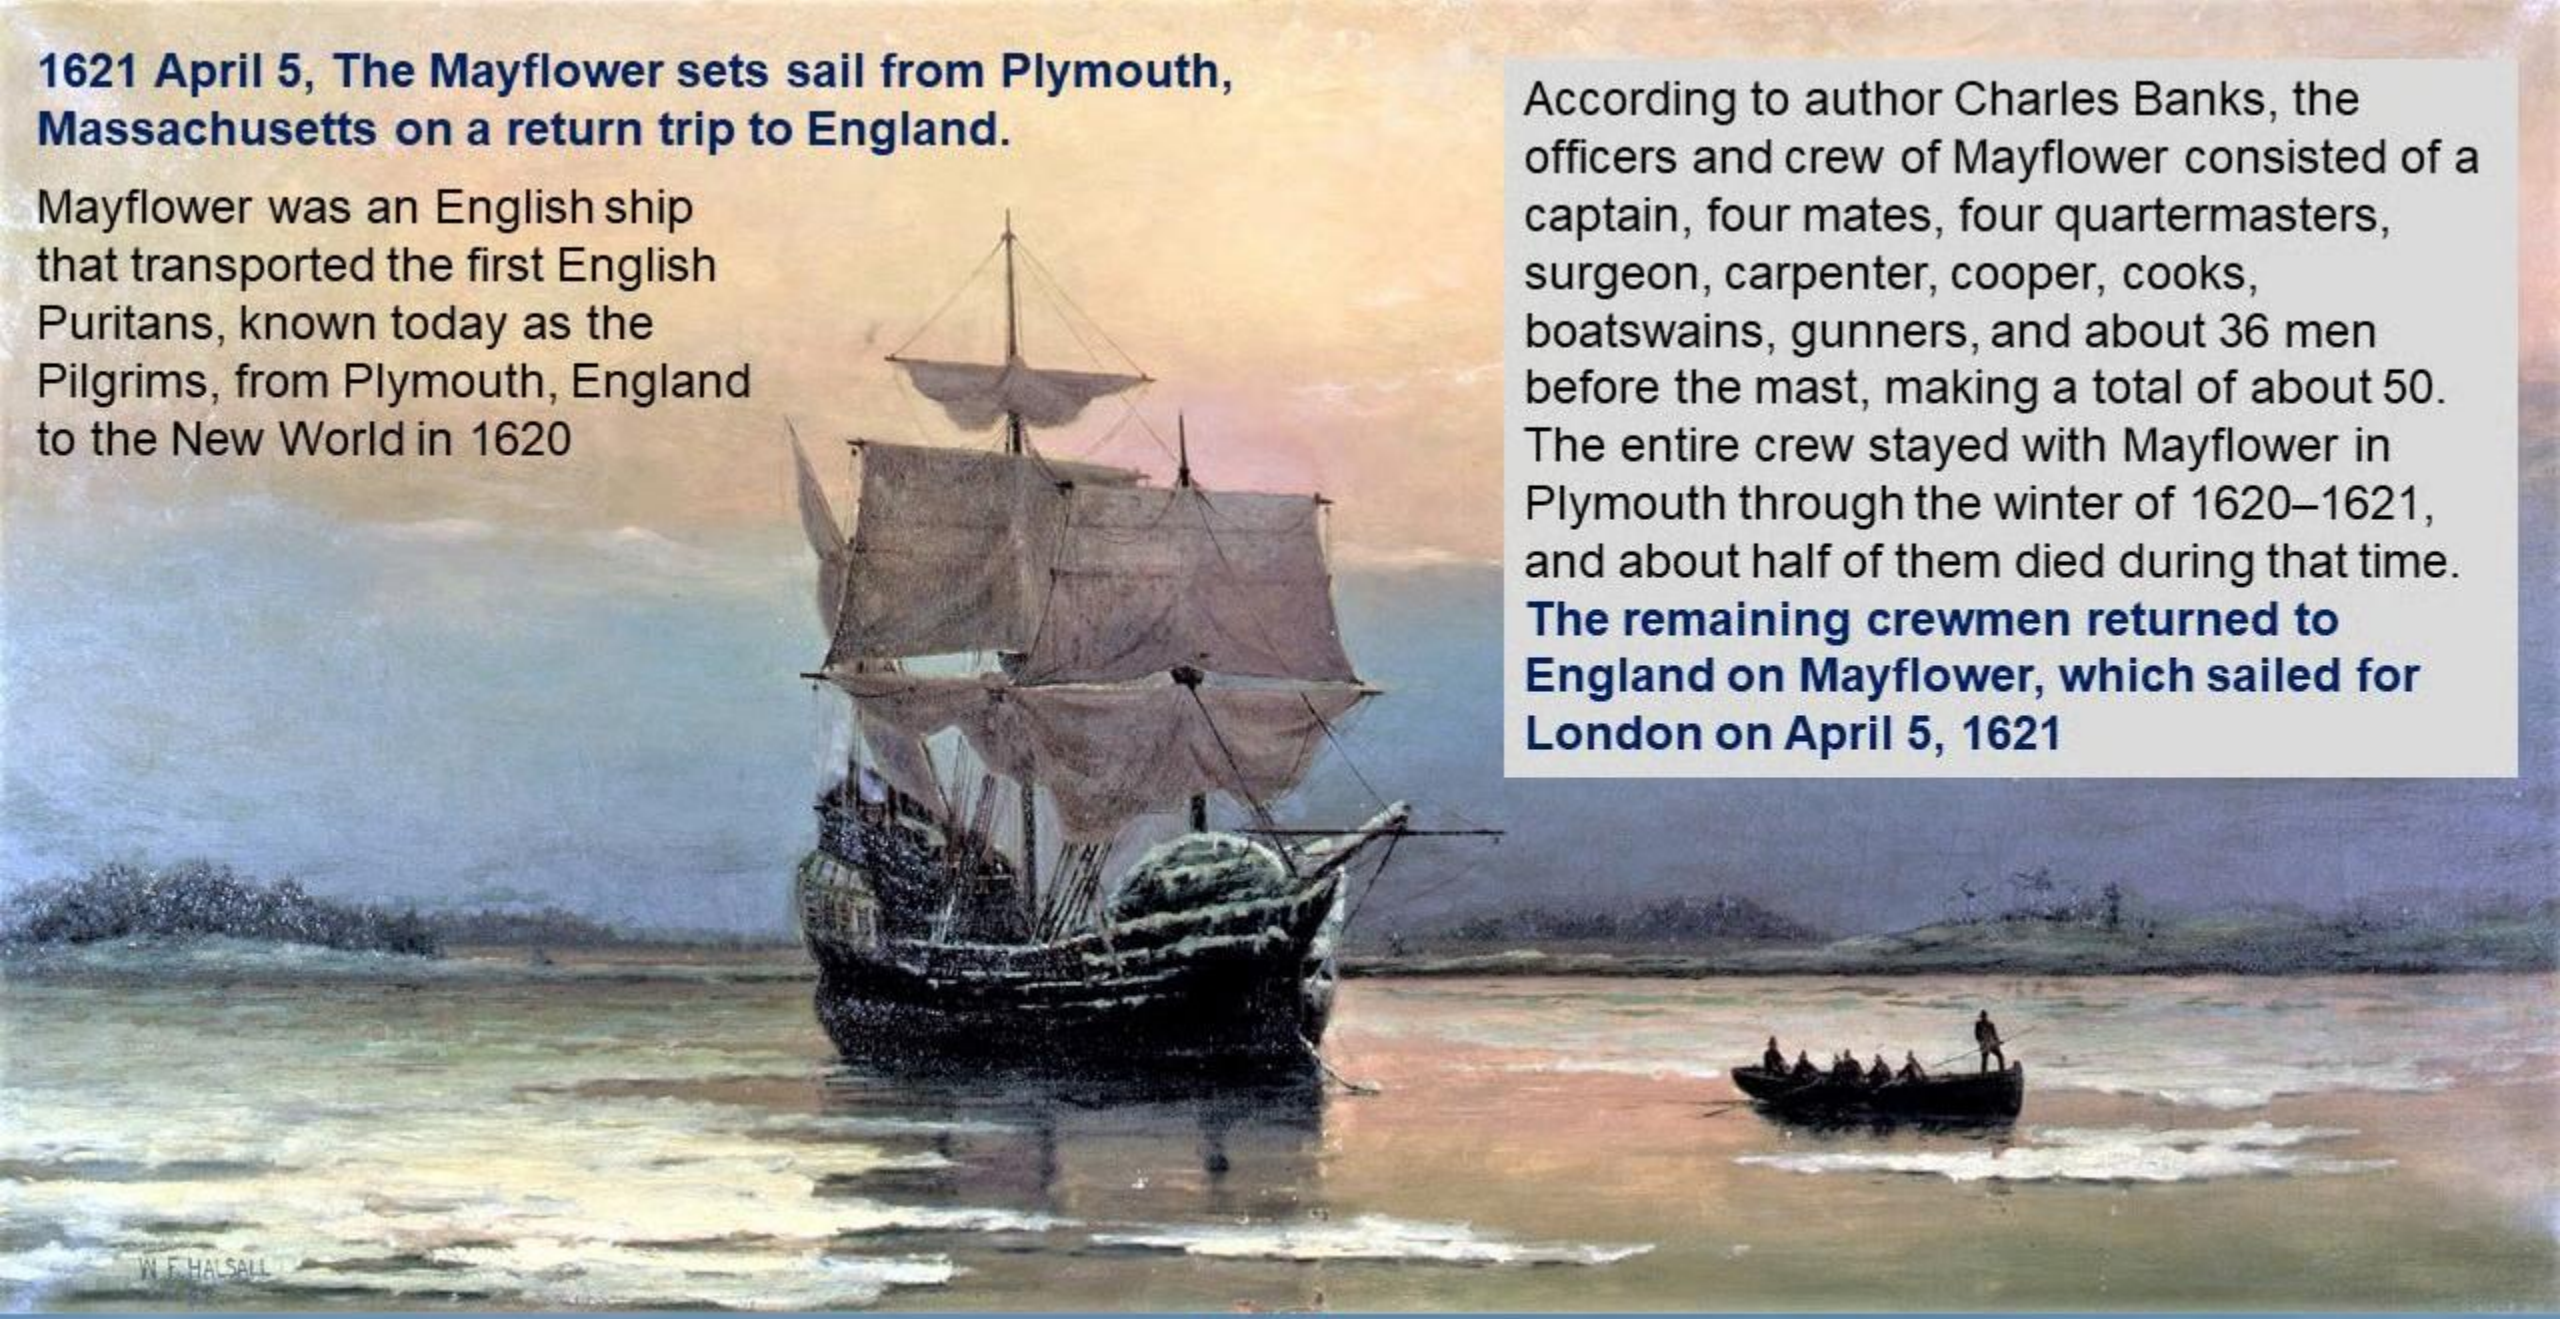
1621 April 5, The Mayflower sets sail from Plymouth, Massachusetts on a return trip to England.

Mayflower was an English ship that transported the first English Puritans, known today as the Pilgrims, from Plymouth, England to the New World in 1620



According to author Charles Banks, the officers and crew of Mayflower consisted of a captain, four mates, four quartermasters, surgeon, carpenter, cooper, cooks, boatswains, gunners, and about 36 men before the mast, making a total of about 50. The entire crew stayed with Mayflower in Plymouth through the winter of 1620–1621, and about half of them died during that time. The remaining crewmen returned to England on Mayflower, which sailed for London on April 5, 1621

Rudolph Rummel claims that 128,000 Filipinos were killed by the U.S in democide and 13,000 were killed by Filipinos in democide.

Rudolph Joseph Rummel (October 21, 1932 – March 2, 2014) was an American political scientist and professor at the Indiana University, Yale University, and University of Hawai'i. He spent his career studying data on collective violence and war with a view toward helping their resolution or elimination. Contrasting genocide, Rummel coined the term democide for murder by government, such as the genocide of indigenous peoples and colonialism, Nazi Germany, the Stalinist purges, Mao Zedong's Cultural Revolution, and other authoritarian, totalitarian, or undemocratic regimes, coming to the conclusion that democratic regimes result in the least democides.

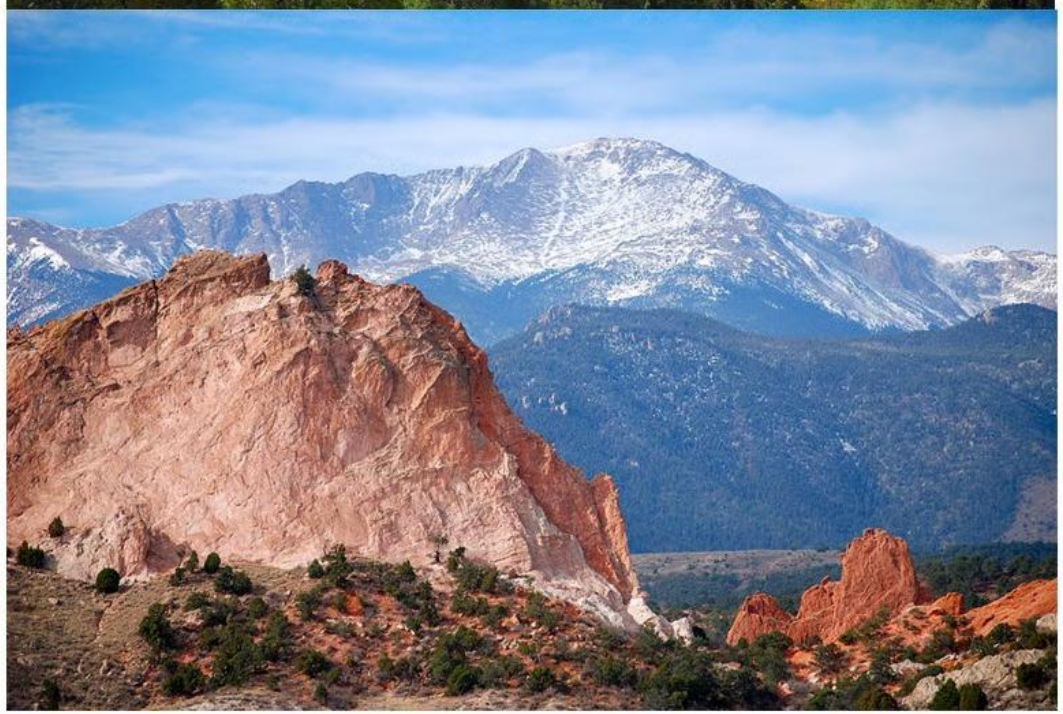
Pikes Peak



Pikes Peak

Pikes Peak is the highest summit of the southern Front Range of the Rocky Mountains, in North America. The ultra-prominent 14,115-foot (4,302.31 m) fourteener is located in Pike National Forest, 12 miles (19 km) west of downtown Colorado Springs, Colorado. The mountain is named in honor of American explorer Zebulon Pike (though he was unable to reach the summit). The summit is higher than any point in the United States east of its longitude. The band of Ute people who called the Pikes Peak region their home were the Tabeguache, whose name means the "People of Sun Mountain". Tava or "sun", is the Ute word that was given by these first people to the mountain that we now call Pikes Peak. It is thought that the Ute people first arrived in Colorado about 500 A.D., however their oral history states that they were created on Tava. In the 1800s, when the Arapaho people arrived in Colorado, they knew the mountain as Heey-otoyoo' meaning "Long Mountain".
Throughout its history, European peoples have called the mountain El Capitán, Grand Peak, Great Peak, James Peak, Long Mountain, and Pike's Peak.

Solvang was founded in 1911 on almost 9,000 acres (3,600 ha) of the Rancho San Carlos de Jonata Mexican land grant, by a group of Danes who traveled west to establish a Danish community far from Midwestern winters. It has been developed as a themed town since attracting national media attention in 1947. The city is home to a number of bakeries, restaurants, and merchants offering a taste of Denmark in California. The architecture of many of the façades and buildings reflects traditional Danish style. There is a copy of the famous Little Mermaid statue from Copenhagen, as well as one featuring the bust of famed Danish fable writer Hans Christian Andersen. A replica of Copenhagen's Round Tower or Rundetårn in the scale 1:3 was finished in 1991 and can be seen in the town center.

Custer of the West

Custer of the West is a 1967 American Western film directed by Robert Siodmak that presents a highly fictionalised version of the life and death of George Armstrong Custer, starring Robert Shaw as Custer, Robert Ryan, Ty Hardin, Jeffrey Hunter, and Mary Ure. The film was shot entirely in Spain. With no better offers to be had, famous American Civil War upstart officer George Armstrong Custer takes over the Western Cavalry maintaining the peace in the Dakotas. He soon learns that the U.S. treaties are a sham, that Indian lands are being stolen and every excuse for driving them off their hunting grounds is being encouraged.

Donald Trump's paternal ancestry is traceable to Bobenheim am Berg, a village in the Palatinate, Germany, in the 18th century. Johann Trump, born in Bobenheim in 1789, moved to the nearby village of Kallstadt where his grandson, Friedrich Trump, the grandfather of Donald Trump, was born in 1869. This German heritage was long concealed by Donald Trump's father, Fred Trump,

The name had been changed during the reign of Napoleon around the turn of the 19th century, according to the transportation association in Kallstadt.

History of the United States, Vol. IV: The West and Jacksonian Democracy

Charles Austin Beard (1874 - 1948) and Mary Ritter Beard (1876 - 1958)

Charles Beard was the most influential American historian of the early 20th century. He published hundreds of monographs, textbooks and interpretive studies in both history and political science. He graduated from DePauw University in 1898, where he met and eventually married Mary Ritter Beard, one of the founders of the first Greek-letter society for women, Kappa Alpha Theta. Many of his books were written in collaboration with his wife, whose own interests lay in feminism and the labor union movement. Running Time:3:15:23

In 1921, Charles and Mary Beard published their textbook: History of the United States. A contemporaneous review stated: The authors... assume enough maturity in...students to justify a topical rather than a chronological treatment. They have dealt with movements, have sketched large backgrounds, have traced causes, and have discussed the interrelation of social and economic forces and politics. All this has been directed to the large purpose of helping the student to understand American today in all its national characteristics and as part of world civilization as well...The literary style is exceptionally clear and crisp, and the whole approach...is thought producing. As a textbook or handbook for the average citizen it ranks with very best. (Summary from Wikipedia, Journal of History, and M.L. Cohen)

When Joseph Goebbels stops at the desk on November day 1925 and picks up his pen, he is almost euphoric after his first meeting with Adolf Hitler.

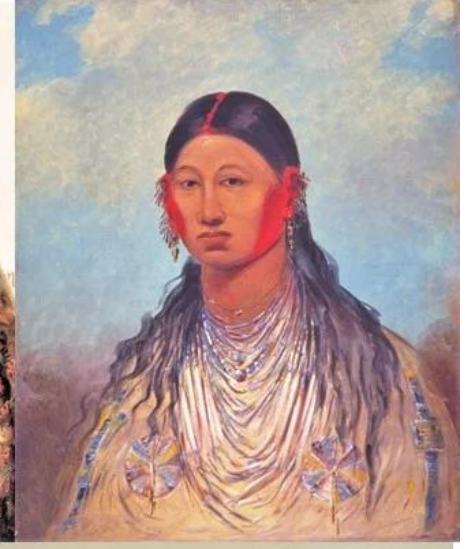
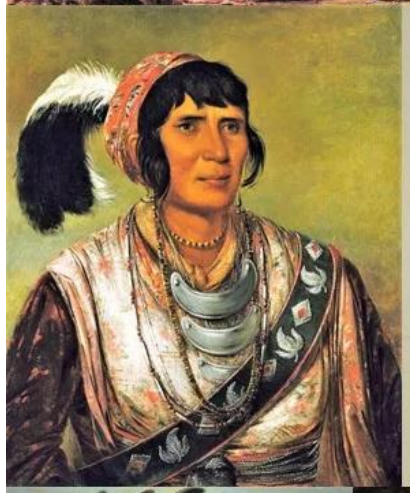
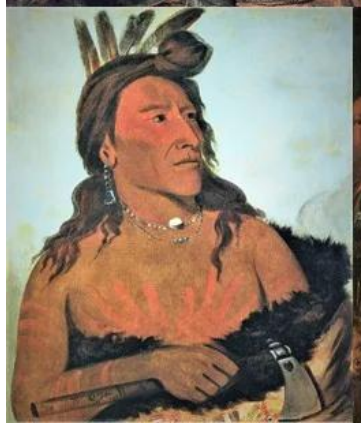
The history of Native Americans in the United States began before the founding of the country, tens of thousands of years ago with the settlement of the Americas by the Paleo-Indians. Anthropologists and archeologists have identified and studied a wide variety of cultures that existed during this era. Their subsequent contact with Europeans had a profound impact on their history afterwards. According to the most generally accepted theory of the settlement of the Americas, migrations of humans from Eurasia to the Americas took place via Beringia, a land bridge which connected the two continents across what is now the Bering Strait. The number and if amin was part of the migrations is still being debated. Falling sea levels associated with an intensive period of Quaternary glaciation created the Bering land bridge that joined Siberia to Alaska about 60–25,000 years ago.

The cultural areas of pre-Columbian North America, according to Alfred Kroeber. The Paleo-Indian or Lithic stage lasted from the first arrival of people in the Americas until about 5000/3000 BCE (in North America). Three major migrations occurred, as traced by linguistic and genetic data; the early Paleoamericans soon spread throughout the Americas, diversifying into many hundreds of culturally distinct nations and tribes.







George Catlin (July 26, 1796 – December 23, 1872) was an American adventurer, lawyer, painter, author, and traveler,

By 8000 BCE the North American climate was very similar to today's.[8] A study published in 2012 gives genetic backing to the 1986 theory put forward by linguist Joseph Greenberg that the Americas must have been populated in three waves, based on language differences.

The Clovis culture, a megafauna hunting culture, is primarily identified by use of fluted spear points. Artifacts from this culture were first excavated in 1932 near Clovis, New Mexico. The Clovis culture ranged over much of North America and also appeared in South America. The culture is identified by the distinctive Clovis point, a flaked flint spear-point with a notched flute, by which it was inserted into a shaft. Dating of Clovis materials has been by association with animal bones and by the use of carbon dating methods. Recent reexaminations of Clovis materials using improved carbon-dating methods produced results of 11,050 and 10,800 radiocarbon years BP (roughly 9100 to 8850 BCE).

The Mammut americanum (American mastodon) became extinct around 12,000–9,000 years ago due to human-related activities, climate change, or a combination of both.

Woolly mammoths were driven to extinction by climate change and human impacts. The image depicts a late Pleistocene landscape in northern Spain with woolly mammoths (Mammuthus primigenius), equids, a woolly rhinoceros (Coelodonta antiquitatis), and European cave lions (Panthera leo spelaea) with a reindeer carcass. The woolly mammoth (Mammuthus primigenius) is an extinct species of mammoth that lived during the Pleistocene until its extinction in the Holocene epoch. It was one of the last in a line of mammoth species, beginning with Mammuthus subplanifrons in the early Pliocene. The woolly mammoth began to diverge from the steppe mammoth about 800,000 years ago in East Asia.

Individuals could probably reach the age of 60. Its habitat was the mammoth steppe, which stretched across northern Eurasia and North America. The population of woolly mammoths declined at the end of the Pleistocene, disappearing throughout most of its mainland range, although isolated populations survived on St. Paul Island until 5,600 years ago, on Wrangel Island until 4,000 years ago.

I dropped the worry on the way-
And God was good to me everyday.

By the close of the Indian Wars in the late 19th century, fewer than 238,000 indigenous people remained, a sharp decline from the estimated 5 million to 15 million living in North America when Columbus arrived in 1492.

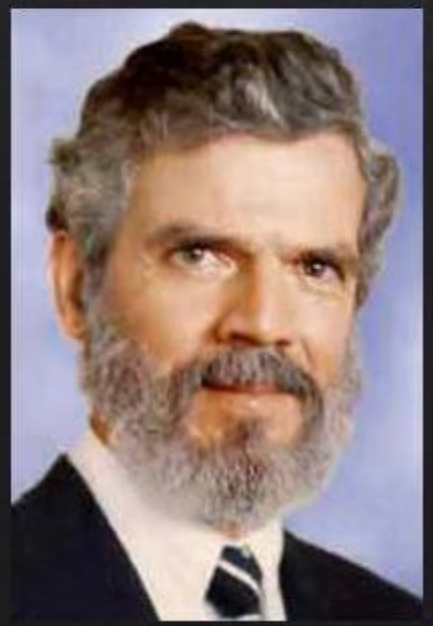
One estimate of population collapse in Central Mexico brought on by successive epidemics in the early colonial period. Note: Other scholars' estimates vary widely.

Early explanations for the population decline of the Indigenous peoples of the Americas include the brutal practices of the Spanish conquistadores, as recorded by the Spaniards themselves, such as the encomienda system, which was ostensibly set up to protect people from warring tribes as well as to teach them the Spanish language and the Catholic religion, but in practice was tantamount to serfdom and slavery.

While it is difficult to determine exactly how many Natives lived in North America before Columbus, estimates range from 3.8 million, as mentioned above, to 7 million people to a high of 18 million.
37 million-48.5 million (estimated year 1924)
46.5 million-53.5 million (estimated year 2003)

In response to David Stannard's figures about what he terms "the American Holocaust", Rummel estimated that over the centuries of European colonization about 2 million to 15 million American indigenous people were victims of democide, excluding military battles and unintentional deaths in Rummel's definition.

By the close of the Indian Wars in the late 19th century, fewer than 238,000 indigenous people remained, a sharp decline from the estimated 5 million to 15 million living in North America when Columbus arrived in 1492



Rudolph Joseph Rummel (October 21, 1932 – March 2, 2014) was an American political scientist and professor at the Indiana University, Yale University, and University of Hawai‘i. He spent his career studying data on collective violence and war with a view toward helping their resolution or elimination. Contrasting genocide,

Mass hanging of Dakota in Mankato, Minnesota

On November 5, 1862 in Minnesota, in courts-martial, 303 Dakota were found guilty of rape and murder of hundreds of American settlers. They were sentenced to be hanged. No attorneys or witnesses were allowed as a defense for the accused, and many were convicted in less than five minutes of court time with the judge. President Abraham Lincoln commuted the death sentences of 284 of the warriors, while signing off on the hanging of 38 Santee men on December 26, 1862 in Mankato, Minnesota.

The California Genocide refers to actions in the mid to late 19th century by the United States federal, state, and local governments that resulted in the decimation of the indigenous population of California following the U.S. occupation of California in 1846. Actions included encouragement of volunteers and militias to kill unarmed men, women and children.

Under US sovereignty, after 1848, the indigenous population plunged from perhaps 150,000 to 30,000 in 1870; it reached its lowest point of 16,000 in 1900. Between 1846 and 1873, European Americans are estimated to have killed outright some 4,500 to 16,000 California Native American

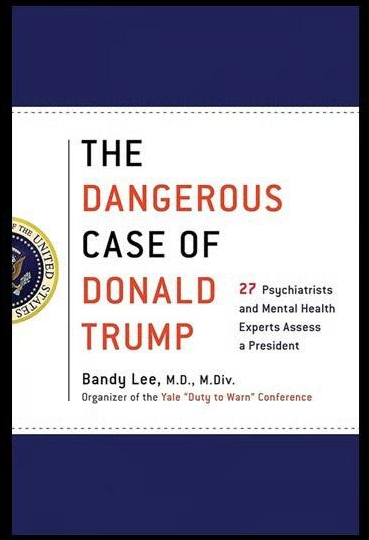
Donald Trump och Psykologernas Förutsägelser: En Djupdykning i Effekterna av hans Psykologiska Profil på Presidentämbetet

Över 27 psykologer i USA har skrivit under på ett upprop, Där man varnar för Donald Trumps mentala hälsa gör honom olämplig att sköta sitt uppdrag.



Psykologer som bevivlar
Donald Trumps mentala hälsa tror
Även att han har dragit till sig en viss personlightestyp av hängivna anhängare.
Forskning tyder på att stöd för president Trump kan vara förknippat med en preferens för auktoritärism, en preferens för grupphierarkier i samhället, mindre kontakt med människor utanför gruppens grupp och känsla av deprivation i förhållande till andra.

Potentiella risker vid en andra presidentperiod

Om Trump skulle väljas till president igen finns det en risk att de beteenden och attityder som observerats under hans första mandatperiod kan återupprepas eller förvärras, vilket kan ha oförutsägbara konsekvenser för nationens styrning och internationella relationer.

Exempel på Trumps uttalanden och handlingar

”Värre än att bara vara en lögnare eller en narcissist, dessutom är han paranoid, vanföreställningar och grandiöst tänkande och det bevisade han för landet den första dagen han var president.”

Slutsats

De psykologiska riskfaktorer som identifierades av psykologerna 2015 och Trumps efterföljande beteenden ger anledning till fortsatt uppmärksamhet och debatt om hans lämplighet för presidentämbetet. Det är viktigt att överväga dessa aspekter när man bedömer potentiella framtida risker för USA:s säkerhet och välfärd.

DICTATOR FOR ONE DAY

Donald Trump is the most dangerous President the United States has ever had. He wants to be Dictator for a day (self stated) He has denied his loss as President despite a proven loss. He is now making a statement to again deny a result that would mean an election loss. He is clearly opposed to leading a Domocracy.

He admires Dictators and seems to dream of becoming a Dictator of the United States

Author: Bandy X. Lee, M.D., M.Div., Organizer of Yale's "Duty to Warn" Conference
Authors argue that the President's mental health was affecting the mental health of the people of the United States and that he places the country at grave risk of involving it in a war, and of undermining democracy itself due to his dangerous pathology. The Dangerous Case of Donald Trump is a 2017 book edited by Bandy X. Lee, a forensic psychiatrist, containing essays from 27 psychiatrists, psychologists, and other mental health professionals describing the "clear and present danger" that US President Donald Trump's mental health poses to the "nation and individual well being".

The election liquidated what was left of Weimar democracy and reduced the Reichstag to a mere stage for Hitler's speeches. It only met sporadically until the end of World War II, held no debates and enacted only a few laws, while the Reichsrat was abolished in February 1934 by the Law on the Abolition of the Reichsrat.

Deaths directly caused by the war (including military and civilian fatalities) are estimated at 50–56 million, with an additional estimated 19–28 million deaths from war-related disease and famine.

Internment of Japanese Americans
The internment of Japanese Americans in the United States during World War II was the forced relocation and incarceration in concentration camps in the western interior of the country of about 120,000 people of Japanese ancestry, most of whom lived on the Pacific Coast. Sixty-two percent of the internees were United States citizens. These actions were ordered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt shortly after Imperial Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor

During the trial, Mussayev claimed not to know Ildar A., but he admitted in press comments soon after that this was not entirely accurate, as he knew the defendant professionally but not personally; he explained the discrepancy by claiming that his oath to Kazakhstan prevented him from revealing this information.

In 2015, Mussayev faced charges for the abduction and murder of two bankers in the Nurbank murder case. The primary suspect in the case, Rakhat Aliyev, was found hanged in his prison cell before the trial began. The trial was one of the most complex in Austrian history with over 60 witnesses. Mussayev was cleared of all charges.

In 2025, Mussayev reportedly claimed that Donald Trump had been recruited by the KGB in 1987 and given the codename "Krasnov."

Alnur Aljapparuly Mussayev ; born 4 January 1954; Lugovoye, Lugovsky District, Dzhambul Region, Soviet Union) was the former head of Kazakhstan's National Security Committee (KNB) under the tenure of President Nursultan Nazarbayev. He served from May 1997 to September 1998, then returned for a second term from August 1999 to May 2001 after his predecessor Nurtai Abykayev was sacked in a scandal over the sale of old MiG fighter planes to North Korea.

In 2007, Mussayev fled Kazakhstan along with his former deputy Rakhat Aliyev to Vienna, Austria. Mussayev accused the government of widespread corruption and payments of millions of dollars in bribes by western oil companies to President Nazarbayev. The government of Kazakhstan has convicted him of crimes in absentia as a result of his defection.
An attempted kidnapping of Mussayev took place in Vienna in September 2008. The Austrian government declined comment on the perpetrators' origins at the time. In a January 2010 trial, defendant Ildar A., one of three men charged with the kidnap attempt on Mussayev, was found not guilty by an Austrian court. Mussayev described the verdict as "politically motivated" and an "attempt to please Kazakhstan".

Yuri Borysovych Shvets (born 16 May 1953) is a former Soviet intelligence officer of Ukrainian origin. He was a Major in the KGB between 1980 and 1990. From April 1985 to 1987, he was a resident spy in Washington, D.C. While there, he held a cover job as a correspondent for TASS, a Soviet state-owned news agency. He left the KGB in September 1990.

In his book, Shvets alleges he had recruited two key sources of political intelligence — "Socrates", a former aide to President Jimmy Carter with strong ties to Greece, and his wife "Sputnitsa" (Russian: Спутница, lit. 'companion'), a journalist working in Washington. Some of these details were called into question. Later, on "60 Minutes", Shvets had identified Socrates as John Helmer, an Australian-born journalist, who denied being Socrates.

Move to America

After publishing a book describing his exploits and ultimate falling out with the KGB, Shvets was banned from foreign travel. In 1993, he moved permanently to the United States, where he later gained citizenship. Shvets was a key source for the 2021 book American Kompromat by Craig Unger, which details claims that Donald Trump is a Soviet, and later Russian, asset.

Now it is clear that Donald Trump wants to become a dictator in the USA. Will his party friends also become complicit in the crimes that need to be committed along the way? Will we see a historic trial like the ones in Germany, when Nazis received their sentences and punishments?

The Nuremberg trials were held by the Allies against representatives of the defeated Nazi Germany for plotting and carrying out invasions of other countries across Europe and atrocities against their citizens in World War II.

Bullying is when someone aggressively uses their "power" to target another individual with repeated, unwanted words or actions. Those targeted are hurt either physically or emotionally and have a hard time stopping what is happening to them. The population of Indigenous Americans is estimated to have decreased from approximately 145 million to around 7-15 million between the late 15th and late 17th centuries, representing a decline of around 90-95%.
Mistreatment and killing of Native Americans continued for centuries, in every area of the Americas, including the areas that would become Canada, the United States, Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Paraguay, Chile.

The transatlantic slave trade resulted in a vast and as yet unknown loss of life for African captives both in and outside the Americas. Estimates have ranged from as low as 2 million to as high 60 million. "More than a million people are thought to have died" during their transport to the New World according to a BBC report.

Narcissistic personality disorder (NPD) is a personality disorder characterized by a life-long pattern of exaggerated feelings of self-importance, an excessive need for admiration, and a diminished ability to empathize with other people's feelings. Narcissistic personality disorder is one of the sub-types of the broader category known as personality disorders.

The Naturalization Act of 1790 set the first uniform rules for the granting of United States citizenship by naturalization, which limited naturalization to "free white person," thus, excluding Native Americans, indentured servants, slaves, free Blacks and later, Asians from citizenship

The Naturalization Act of 1870 extended naturalization to Black persons, but not to other non-white persons and revoked the citizenship of naturalized Chinese Americans

Time with crimes against humanity

Before 1820 a majority of serving congressmen owned slaves, and that about 30 percent of congressmen who were born before 1840 (some of whom served into the 20th century) owned slaves at some time in their lives

Native Americans were granted citizenship in a piece-meal manner until the Indian Citizenship Act of 1924

During World War II, the United States forcibly relocated and incarcerated about 125,000 people of Japanese descent in ten concentration camps

The Civil Rights Act further prohibits all forms of segregation in public places and public facilities, as well as racial discrimination in the workplace. It also prohibits discrimination based on sex, religion, or country of birth.

The United States has the most incarcerated citizens (2.3 million) and racist elements with a large proportion of prisoners of color. over 900 per 100,000 citizens compared to 120 for white people

The United States has only experienced 24% of its time without serious crimes against humanity

Slaves

1790 (694 207) - 1860 (3 953 820)

15 million Native Americans have been killed in the United States since Columbus landed in 1492.

By the close of the Indian Wars in the late 19th century, fewer than 238,000 Indigenous people remained of the estimated 5 million-plus living in North America before European contact.

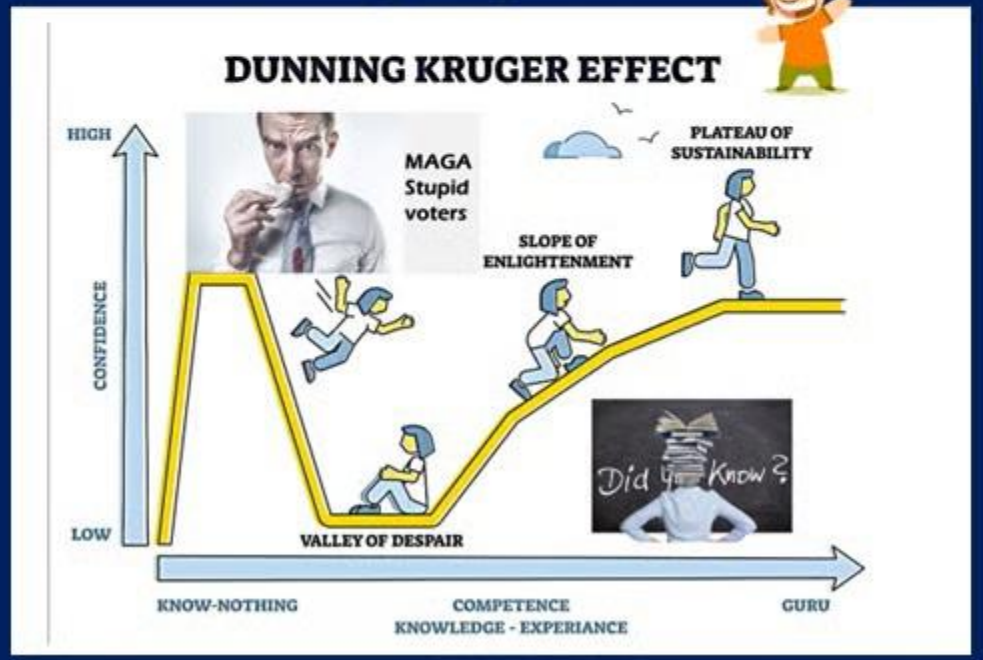
Dunning–Kruger effect



Dunning–Kruger effect

The Dunning–Kruger effect is a cognitive bias in which people with limited competence in a particular domain overestimate their abilities. It was first described by David Dunning and Justin Kruger in 1999. Some researchers also include the opposite effect for high performers: their tendency to underestimate their skills. In popular culture, the Dunning–Kruger effect is often misunderstood as a claim about general overconfidence of people with low intelligence instead of specific overconfidence of people unskilled at a particular task.

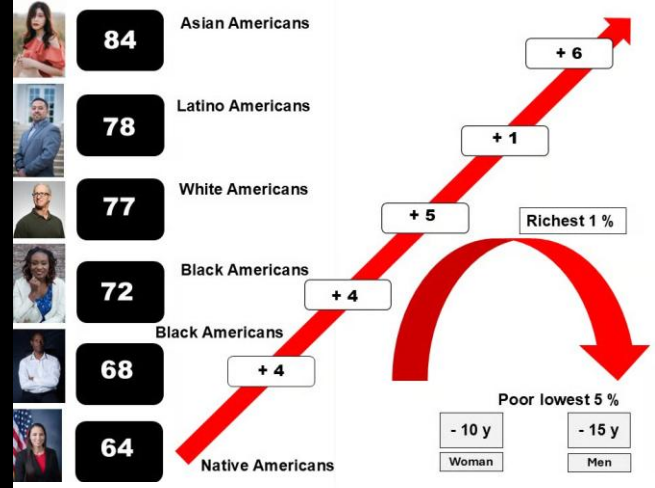
Transferring money to the rich will not increase their lifespan, but taking money from the poorest will lead to extra deaths.

Probably several hundred thousand life years.



Conclusions and Relevance

In the United States between 2001 and 2014, higher income was associated with greater longevity, and differences in life expectancy across income groups increased. However, the association between life expectancy and income varied substantially across areas; differences in longevity across income groups decreased in some areas and increased in others. The differences in life expectancy were correlated with health behaviors and local area characteristics.

Life expectancy increases continuously with income. At the age of 40 years, the gap in life expectancy between individuals in the top and bottom 1% of the income distribution in the United States is 15 years for men and 10 years for women.

Price of poor: Men 15 years shorter life expectancy – woman 10 years.

The worsening health of specific populations is a key reason the country's overall life expectancy — at 75 years for men and 80 for women — is the shortest among wealthy nations.

"Some groups in the United States are facing a health crisis," Bollyky said, "and we need to respond to that because it's worsening."

Thomas Matthew Crooks

Thomas Matthew Crooks (September 20, 2003 – July 13, 2024) was an American man who attempted to assassinate then-former U.S. president Donald Trump, who at the time was the presumptive Republican Party nominee for the 2024 presidential election. On July 13, 2024, at a rally near Butler, Pennsylvania, Crooks shot at Trump with an AR-15–style rifle from a nearby rooftop while Trump was giving a speech. Crooks wounded Trump's ear and killed one attendee while critically injuring two others before being killed by a Secret Service counter sniper team.

His motive remains unknown. Look at examples. The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) is investigating the case. Trump would go on to win the 2024 election less than four months later.

Evidence on his political views remains inconclusive. In January 2021, he donated $15 to a voter turnout group with a Democratic platform. When he reached the voting age of 18 in September 2021, he registered to vote in Pennsylvania as a member of the Republican Party and remained registered as a Republican until his death.

He was employed as a dietary aide in a nursing home at the time of the shooting. According to the nursing home, which is less than a mile away from where he lived, he had passed a background check and "performed his job without concern". He had been accepted into both the University of Pittsburgh and Robert Morris University in Moon Township, Pennsylvania northwest of Pittsburgh and planned to attend the latter.

He had a membership at a local shooting club for at least a year.

Thomas Matthew Crooks

Motive

Authorities and experts have offered several speculative theories as to the motive of the attack and Crooks's intentions as the investigation has gone on.

One investigative lead is looking into whether the attack was politically motivated. The FBI said that Crooks's political beliefs are unclear; the limited information relating Crooks's political views has been called contradictory, for example Crooks being both a registered Republican and having donated to ActBlue

The Trump & Musk effect

Trump's Tariff Plans Will Drive up Costs for the Average American Family between $1,600 and $2,000 per year. The Trump Administration's plan to impose tariffs against Canada, Mexico, and China will drive up costs for Americans while hurting the overall economy. The tariffs that are set to take effect on March 4th will impose 25% tariffs on all goods coming from both Canada and Mexico and add a new 10% tariff on all goods coming from China, which is in addition to the 10% Chinese tariff already put into place by the Trump Administration last month.
Trump's tariffs will make everyday items more expensive
Despite Trump's claims that foreign countries pay for tariffs, evidence from his previous tariffs shows that it was actually domestic importers and American families who faced higher costs after they took effect. If Trump imposes his proposed tariffs, economists expect they would cost middle-class households thousands of dollars. According to new analysis by the Yale Budget Lab these new tariffs will cost the average American family an additional $1,600 to $2,000 per year. And because tariffs are regressive, families at the bottom of the income ladder will shoulder more of a burden as a share of their income than those at the top of the income scale.

TREASON

this is a work of fiction

Nuremberg trials 1945 - 1946

The Nuremberg trials were held by the Allies against representatives of the defeated Nazi Germany for plotting and carrying out invasions of other countries across Europe and committing atrocities against their citizens in World War II.

Judges' bench during the tribunal at the Palace of Justice in Nuremberg

Washington trials 2028 - 2029

A hypothetical but likely future event. Unprecedented violations of the American Constitution and treason are being tried. Several people involved are charged with crimes against the US state.

In a fractured America, a landmark trial unfolds, forcing the nation to confront its past as former President Donald Trump, tech mogul Elon Musk, and a hundred Republican senators stand accused of treason, threatening to shatter the fragile peace.

Washington trials 2028 - 2029

Remember that this is a work of fiction and should be presented as such.

Year: 2028. The United States is a changed nation. Political divisions have deepened, and trust in institutions is at an all-time low. A new, centrist President, Eleanor Vance, struggles to hold the country together.

The Catalyst: A series of leaked documents and whistleblower testimonies expose a complex web of communication and financial transactions between Donald Trump, Elon Musk, and a significant portion of the Republican Senate during Trump's presidency and in the years following his term. The evidence suggests a coordinated effort to undermine democratic processes, spread disinformation, and actively work against the interests of the United States, allegedly for personal gain and to consolidate power.

The Arrests: The revelations spark outrage and mass protests. Under intense pressure, President Vance authorizes the Justice Department to pursue charges of treason. Donald Trump, Elon Musk, and one hundred Republican senators are arrested in a series of dramatic raids, sending shockwaves across the globe.

Public Reaction: The arrests trigger a maelstrom of reactions. Trump's loyal base erupts in fury, claiming a witch hunt and political persecution. Others celebrate the potential accountability. Elon Musk's supporters defend him as a visionary unfairly targeted. The nation is on a knife's edge, teetering between hope for justice and the threat of civil unrest.

The Legal Labyrinth: The legal groundwork for the trial is fraught with challenges. The defense teams, led by prominent and well-funded lawyers, argue the charges are politically motivated and that the evidence is circumstantial or inadmissible. The prosecution, led by a seasoned special prosecutor, faces immense pressure to secure convictions.

The Courtroom: The trial is held in a heavily secured federal courthouse in Washington D.C. The world watches as the drama unfolds.

Washington trials 2028 - 2029

The Courtroom: The trial is held in a heavily secured federal courthouse in Washington D.C. The world watches as the drama unfolds.

Key Players:

Donald Trump: Defiant and charismatic, he maintains his innocence, portraying himself as a victim of a deep-state conspiracy.

Elon Musk: More subdued than his public persona, he claims his actions were driven by a desire to advance humanity and were misinterpreted.

Senator Gregor Swede A conflicted senator caught in the middle, wrestling with guilt and the potential consequences of their actions. Serves as a pivotal character for the prosecution.

President Eleanor Vance: She attempts to maintain neutrality, knowing the trial's outcome will define her presidency and the future of the nation.

The Evidence: The prosecution presents a mountain of evidence: emails, financial records, intercepted communications, and testimony from whistleblowers and former aides. The defense argues the evidence is taken out of context, fabricated, or protected by executive privilege.

Turning Points:

A key witness, a former Trump advisor, provides incriminating testimony about direct orders to spread disinformation.

A forensic analysis of Elon Musk's company servers reveals hidden financial transfers and coded communications.

Senator Gregor Swede decides to cooperate with the prosecution, offering firsthand accounts of the alleged conspiracy in exchange for a lighter sentence.

Media Circus: The trial becomes a relentless media spectacle, with cable news networks providing wall-to-wall coverage and social media ablaze with speculation and conspiracy theories.

Washington trials 2028 - 2029

Part 3: Judgment and Aftermath (Chapters 16-20)

The Verdict: After weeks of deliberation, the jury reaches a verdict. Donald Trump, Elon Musk, and a significant number of the Republican senators are found guilty of treason. The sentences range from 10 to 30 years in prison, depending on the level of involvement.

Reactions: The verdict ignites a firestorm of emotions. Celebrations erupt in some quarters, while protests and riots break out in others. President Vance addresses the nation, calling for unity and healing.

Consequences:

Trump and Musk are sent to maximum-security prisons. Their empires crumble, and their legacies are forever tarnished.

The Republican Party is thrown into chaos, struggling to redefine itself in the wake of the scandal.

America grapples with the long-term consequences of the trial, including deep divisions, economic instability, and a crisis of faith in its institutions.

Hope for the Future: Despite the turmoil, there are glimmers of hope. President Vance works to implement reforms aimed at strengthening democracy, promoting transparency, and addressing the root causes of political polarization. The nation begins a slow and painful process of reconciliation and rebuilding.

Epilogue: Years later, America looks different. The scars of the past remain, but there is also a renewed commitment to the ideals of justice, equality, and the rule of law. The Gilded Cage serves as a stark warning about the fragility of democracy and the importance of vigilance against those who would seek to undermine it.

Nuremberg trials 1945 - 1946

Handing over the indictment to the tribunal, 18 October 1945

The work of drafting the indictment was divided up by the national delegations. The British worked on aggressive war; the other delegations were assigned the task of covering crimes against humanity and war crimes committed on the Western Front (France) and the Eastern Front (the Soviet Union).

Smith? William Henry Smyth used the term Technocracy in his 1919 article "'Technocracy'—Ways and Means to Gain Industrial Democracy," in the journal Industrial Management. However, Smyth's usage referred to Industrial democracy: a movement to integrate workers into decision making through existing firms or revolution. The term came to mean government by technical decision making in 1932. Hence there is no connection what so ever with the actual Technocracy movement.

George Washington saw Donald Trump coming or a similar figure who dreamed of becoming a Dictator. In a letter to General Lafayette in June 1787, 238 years ago, Washington warned:

Some aspiring demagogue who will not consult the interest of his country so much as his own ambition view.....

are likely in the course of time and things to become potent engines by which cunning, ambition, and unprincipled men will be enabled to subvert the power of the people, and to usurp for themselves the reins off government, destroying, afterwards the very engines which have lifted them to unjust dominion.

The disorders and miseries which results gradually incline the minds of men to seek security and respose in the absulute power of an indivdual, and sooner or later the chief of some prevailing faction, more able or more fortunate then his competitors of his own elevation on the ruins of public liberty.

GOAL FOR Musk

Elon Musk's plan is actually from a book from 1855. Technocrats take over the world and dismantle important social functions and they appoint a council from among their extremely rich friends to make the decisions. Ordinary people are far too stupid. See for yourself they were completely fooled by voting for and believing all the lies that Donald Trump spun out of himself at his ridiculous rallies

Time to wake up, you still have time to avert the biggest scandal in US history. Trump and Musk are planning to form a new, larger USA. Canada and Greenland will be included. In the longer term, Mexico too. The idea that Technocrats with extreme wealth know better is the basis for the plan. It is completely inspired by Elon Musk, who in turn was inspired by a book from 1855 and reworked in the 1920s. Sectors have already been formed with such ambitions and they have been banned. Elon Musk has dusted off the plans and only a blind and deaf person does not see or hear how Nazi-inspired plans have already begun. The plan includes dismantling important public health functions. Haven't you noticed it yet? The US has simply got criminals to lead the country towards the same abyss as Hitler did. It is unlikely that this will become reality. Maybe some group among 340 million wants Democracy to remain and has the courage and means to stop the plan?

He (Henlein) was arrested some time later by the Americans, but he committed suicide shortly afterwards. He was buried in an anonymous grave in Plzeň.

The occupied territories and military administrations in the German Reich end 1942.
He (Heinlein) had contacts among National Socialists in Germany, and based on their influence, on October 1, 1933, Henlein founded the Sudetendeutsche Heimatfront (SHF), whose main purpose was to work for the German-speaking part of Czechoslovakia to be incorporated into the Third Reich.

The American separation of powers between Congress, the President and the Courts was created to prevent a person who wanted to introduce a dictatorship and looked after his own interests. This is also known from a letter from President George Washington. Since Donald Trump, through a number of irregular decisions and these clearly show plans to make himself a dictator, is already violating the constitution and that should be enough to impeach him. Otherwise, the constitution is written incorrectly, or those who sit in the Senate and House of Representatives are too cowardly. The representatives who do not try to prevent Donald Trump will have played the same role in history as those who did nothing to stop Adolf Hitler. So it must be that they think like Donald Trump or see other advantages in being close to a dictator. They may like power or their own economic advantages. You can bundle up the judgment about these cowards later in new history books. "These traitors to the American Constitution sat there helpless and just watched and let it happen. We now know that XXXXX (can be filled in later, that this many lives were lost) (who knows a third World War might be traced back to their inaction) lives were lost through their collective betrayal."

Dark, often racist forces have played a role in American politics from the very beginning. But with the rise of Trumpism and the MAGA movement, violent speech and threats have been openly accepted into the mainstream Republican Party like never before, and that's led to real violence against regular people. In this Unpacked, we bear witness to the ways Donald Trump has used violence as a political tool, and used social media to bring it into the center of our political discourse and the MAGA Republican party. 'No Blame?' ABC News finds 54 cases invoking 'Trump' in connection with violence, threats, alleged assaults.
Right-wing populism, also called national populism and right populism, is a political ideology that combines right-wing politics with populist rhetoric and themes. Its rhetoric employs anti-elitist sentiments, opposition to the Establishment, and speaking to or for the common people. Recurring themes of right-wing populists include neo-nationalism, social conservatism, economic nationalism, and fiscal conservatism. Neo-nationalism is associated with several positions such as right-wing populism, anti-globalization, nativism, protectionism, opposition to immigration, Islamophobia in non-Muslim-majority countries, and Euroscepticism, where applicable.

Fired Justice Department employee reveals that Trump officials tried to send armed officers to her home to intimidate her and her family:

An example of a crime, illegal threats that exist in Sweden, is the following story.

An inconvenient lawyer (woman) previously employed at a prosecutor's office was dismissed without any particular reason.

But this was not enough. The authorities apparently also had the same feeling, that it was difficult to find the reason for the dismissal.

In the USA, a coup d'état is underway since Donald Trump began his second term as US President. Power is divided in the constitution. The President, Courts, the Assembly (Senate and House of Representatives).

Trump threatens judges, senators, civil servants, replaces high-ranking military officers, dismisses dissenters, appoints unqualified managers (the most recent being the Minister of Defense), replaces news reporters, verbally attacks Journalists. Researchers, universities and education are also affected and the Ministry of Education is closed.

Donald Trump has managed to avoid taxes and, like his father, when he distributed his wealth to his children. Already at the age of eight, Donald Trump was a millionaire. He was also a sociopath at the same age. Who punches his music teacher in the eye with his fist? Donald Trump is a sociopath according to at least 28 experts. He is directly dangerous in the office of president. 27 experts, as early as 2015 and 2017, a Finnish doctor wrote about the diagnosis of a sociopath. Trump was a clear case.

Donald Trump is a sociopath, lacks empathy and he has never been punished yet. When his properties were a bad buy, Russian banks appeared to lend money and in 1987 he was recruited by the KGB and became agent Krasnov. One has to admire Putin for being able to place a spy as Russia's number one asset in the most successful spy mission in world history. Trump and Putin already have their plans ready.

Only a madman confuses being President of the United States with playing Monopoly with the countries of the world

The law generally prevents the president from using the military as a domestic police force.

Trump:

‘I Need the Kind of Generals that Hitler had’

Trump became angry

“It doesn’t cost 60,000 bucks to bury a fucking Mexican!”

He turned to his chief of staff, Mark Meadows, and issued an order: “Don’t pay it!” Later that day, he was still agitated. “Can you believe it?” he said, according to a witness. “Fucking people, trying to rip me off.”

Authorizing military action “when lives are in danger” provided it’s authorized by an official.

The law generally prevents the president from using the military as a domestic police force.

The Posse Comitatus Act bars federal troops from participating in civilian law enforcement except when expressly authorized by law. This 143-year-old law embodies an American tradition that sees military interference in civilian affairs as a threat to both democracy and personal liberty. However, recent events have revealed dangerous gaps in the law’s coverage that Congress must address.

In practice, this means that members of the military who are subject to the law may not participate in civilian law enforcement unless doing so is expressly authorized by a statute or the Constitution.

Only federal military personnel are covered. While the Posse Comitatus Act refers only to the Army and Air Force, a different statute extends the same rule to the Navy and Marine Corps. The Coast Guard, though part of the federal armed forces, has express statutory authority to perform law enforcement and is not bound by the Posse Comitatus Act.

Members of the National Guard are rarely covered by the Posse Comitatus Act because they usually report to their state or territory’s governor. That means they are free to participate in law enforcement if doing so is consistent with state law. However, when Guard personnel are called into federal service, or “federalized,” they become part of the federal armed forces, which means they are bound by the Posse Comitatus Act until they are returned to state control.

What are the main statutory exceptions to the Posse Comitatus Act?

There are many statutory exceptions to the Posse Comitatus Act, but the most important one is the Insurrection Act. Under this law, in response to a state government's request, the president may deploy the military to suppress an insurrection in that state. In addition, the Insurrection Act allows the president — with or without the state government's consent — to use the military to enforce federal law or suppress a rebellion against federal authority in a state, or to protect a group of people's civil rights when the state government is unable or unwilling to do so.

There are no constitutional exceptions to the Posse Comitatus Act. The law allows only for express exceptions, and no part of the Constitution expressly empowers the president to use the military to execute the law. This conclusion is consistent with the law's legislative history, which suggests that its drafters chose to include the language about constitutional exceptions as part of a face-saving compromise, not because they believed any existed.

This has not stopped the Department of Defense from claiming that constitutional exceptions to the law exist. The Department has long claimed that the Constitution implicitly gives military commanders "emergency authority" to unilaterally use federal troops "to quell large-scale, unexpected civil disturbances" when doing so is "necessary" and prior authorization by the president is impossible. In the past, the department also claimed an inherent constitutional power to use the military to protect federal property and functions when local governments could not or would not do so. The validity of these claimed authorities has never been tested in court.

A Nation Divided, Then Reunited: How America Steered Back from the Brink of Civil War.

The year 2025 will forever be etched in the American consciousness, not for technological leaps or cultural milestones, but for the chillingly close brush with a second civil war. It was a period of immense tension, a stark reminder of the fragility of democracy, and a testament to the enduring wisdom of the very foundations upon which the United States was built.

TRUMPHAUSEN

A c. 1740 portrait of the real Münchausen as an Imperial Russian Army officer in Riga

Born in Bodenwerder, Hanover, the real-life Münchausen fought for the Russian Empire during the Russo-Turkish War of 1735–1739. After retiring in 1760, he became a minor celebrity within German aristocratic circles for telling outrageous tall tales based on his military career. After hearing some of Münchausen's stories, Raspe adapted them anonymously into literary form, first in German as ephemeral magazine pieces and then in English as the 1785 book, which was first published in Oxford by a bookseller named Smith. The fictional Baron's exploits, narrated in the first person, focus on his impossible achievements as a sportsman, soldier, and traveller; riding on a cannonball, fighting a forty-foot crocodile, and travelling to the Moon.

Project 2025's supporters say it will dismantle a government bureaucracy that is, they believe, unaccountable and biased toward liberalism. Its critics have called it authoritarian, Christian nationalist, and autocratic.

Legal experts say it would undermine the rule of law, the separation of powers, the separation of church and state, and civil liberties. Some critics have suggested Project 2025 is based on personal vengeance, or that its proposals for national conservatism are merely an "attempt to intellectually retrofit a rationale for Trumpism".

Compared to previous Republican agendas, Project 2025 contains more elements of culture war and advocates for wider implementation of policy across the federal government. While some proposals might require the support of Republicans in Congress or favorable rulings from the Supreme Court, much relies on executive authority.

Starting tomorrow, we'll be paying more for everything – groceries, food, cars, homes, toys, electronics, everything that you buy. Estimates have home prices ballooning by almost $20,000 per unit. Cars will cost $6,000 more. An iPhone, 250 bucks more. Clothing prices will go up by roughly 20 percent. Also, what we're going to be a textile manufacturer? That's our goal as a country is to make t-shirts and socks?

So what is this even for? Why are people so freaked out? Why is the entire world, from friends and partners to adversaries and enemies, scrambling to retaliate against the United States, the indispensable nation? It's so that Donald Trump can raise trillions of dollars in revenue to pay for the biggest tax cuts for billionaires in the history of the planet.

The right-wing proposals in Project 2025 would hurt our country's public school students, harm children and families who rely on Head Start, and wreck our economy by skewing it toward the wealthy and corporations at the expense of working families.

Project 2025, the extremist agenda set forth by former President Donald Trump's allies, aims to eliminate the Department of Education, directing tax dollars toward private schools that do not meet the same standards as public schools and do not admit or serve all students. The same goes for charter schools, which do not provide the same accountability as public schools.

The hawk Trump started eating pigeons back in 2015

Then we are done, right? The world is ruled by criminals and there are exceptions Democratic countries 28%.

There is a famous game theory. The Pigeon and Hawk game. Two pigeons can make good deals.

They honor agreements, law, honor, decency, have empathy and that is enough for them to trust that the agreements will be honored.

The world is ruled by 72% of criminals. If you have a little decency about the idea of human rights, then 72% of the world's population does not have a good situation compared to countries that have a higher degree of freedom, security and legality.

The path to power for criminals, the list of leaders of countries with dictatorships or the list of countries with democratic leaders minus the rest, has meant that a certain violence, illegality has been used on the way to power. In some cases not "certainly" but a lot of violence.

More pigeons make new deals and everything seems to be going well. But one day a pigeon meets a hawk, a Donald Trump-like hawk. Just greeting Trump means that the Pigeon should have calculated if Trump had taken a piece of the Pigeon.

We call the Hawk Trump. As Trump gets closer to his meal, the Pigeon will have an easier time getting dinner served. Trump tears off a wing of the Pigeon and eats it up.
Does the Pigeon gain any new knowledge? Yes, there are Hawks and one happened to be called Trump. Throughout history, many Hawks have appeared, Stalin or Putin, Hitler are names for Hawks.

Stalin ate up (had 61.9 million people killed), Putin starts a war and has had Pigeons poisoned.)

In the game technique, the best balance for existence has been reached. A certain percentage of Hawks keep the Pigeons on their toes more and only Pigeons are apparently not as good. But 72% Hawks are very bad. 33% Hawks are better. 72% Hawks?

No wonder feathers are rustling now that Trump is hungry. The USA, a really fat Pigeon, is completely naive and the meal is ready. Dinner seems to be coming soon.

Scared pigeons are hiding and seeking shelter.

The eagle Trump did not give up but gathered masses of hawks and some ignorant pigeons for mass meetings. Trump saw the pigeons sitting and listening and how they began to take on the form of hawks.

The beaks became large and hawk-like. The wingspan increased and they started to like eating meat, not ridiculous little seeds.

Now it's simple. Are there brave Pigeons? Only if there are many of them and if they can corner the Hawk, they can surely peck out the eyes of the Hawk Trump.

The world is waiting to see if that will happen or if more Pigeons will become migratory birds?

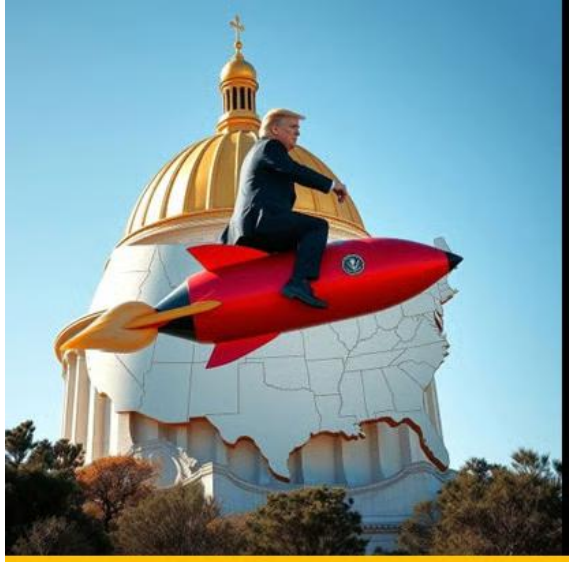
There is also an experiment from 1963 that shows that people can perform increasingly cruel acts in groups. People were tricked into believing that they would participate in an experiment with punishment for wrong answers in tests and electric shocks of varying strength would be given out on a scale up to 450 volts which was fatal.

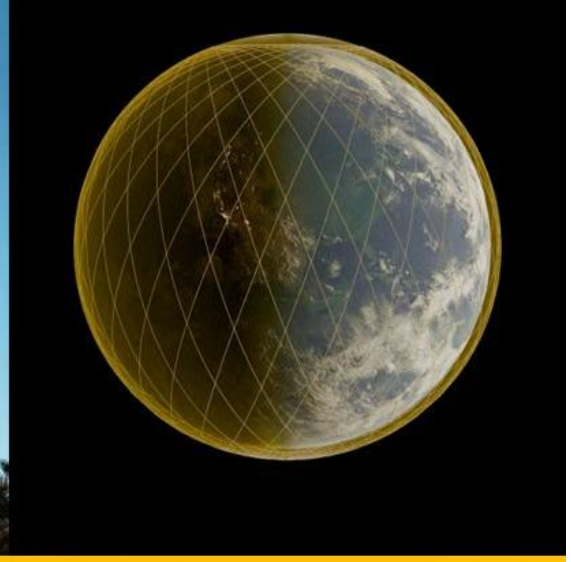
Could randomly selected people kill other people? The answer is yes. Now there was no electricity in the equipment, not a single electric shock was given out, but those who became victims acted out and screamed in pain.

The hawk Trump started eating pigeons back in 2015 and suddenly a famine occurred when only pigeons had power. The pigeon Biden came to rule in the USA.

The world is ruled by 72% of criminals. If you have a little decency about the idea of human rights, then 72% of the world's population does not have a good situation compared to countries that have a higher degree of freedom, security and legality.

Golden Dome





Golden Dome (missile defense system)

The Golden Dome is a proposed multi-layer defense system for the United States, intended to counter "the threat of ballistic, hypersonic, and cruise missiles" posed to the mainland. The architecture has been viewed as similar to the Brilliant Pebbles concept of the 1980s.

On January 27, 2025, Donald Trump signed an executive order directing the United States Armed Forces to construct a missile defense system. It has been compared to the Iron Dome air defense system in Israel, as well as the Strategic Defense Initiative, which was proposed by Ronald Reagan in 1983. The White House has called the program both a dome and a shield,[7] potentially misnomers in that the system would rely on thousands of space-based weapons or "interceptors" distributed around the entire Earth, rather than a fixed dome positioned over the United States.[8] Interceptors are kept staged near the edge of the atmosphere, where they must maintain quick orbits to avoid falling back to Earth.

Wealth of Donald Trump

is not publicly known.

The net worth of American politician and businessman Donald Trump, the 47th and previously 45th president of the United States, is not publicly known. For decades, Forbes has assessed his wealth, currently estimating it at $5.5 billion as of early May 2025. Meanwhile, Bloomberg estimated his wealth at $7.08 billion in January 2025, although Trump himself claims a much higher net worth. However, after the launch of $Trump, Trump's own cryptocurrency, Axios temporarily estimated his net worth to be $58 billion. He received gifts, loans, and inheritance from his father, who was a real-estate developer and businessman. Donald Trump's primary business has been real estate ventures, including hotels, casinos, and golf courses. He also made money from Trump-branded products including neckties, steaks, and urine tests. Money received through political fundraisers is used to pay for guest stays at properties owned by The Trump Organization and to pay his and his allies' lawyers.

Gifts, loans, and other wealth from his father

Drawing upon more than 100,000 pages of tax returns and financial records from Fred Trump's businesses and interviews with former advisers and employees, the New York Times found 295 distinct streams of revenue that Fred Trump created over five decades in order to channel his wealth to his son. In a 2007 sworn deposition, he acknowledged borrowing $9.6 million from his father's estate, and on the presidential campaign trail in 2015, he admitted to borrowing $1 million from his father as a young adult.

Trust funds

Trump is the beneficiary of several trust funds set up by his father and paternal grandmother, which began in 1949 when he was three. According to The New York Times, he "was a millionaire by age 8." In 1976, Fred Trump set up trust funds of $1 million ($5.5 million in 2024 dollars) for each of his five children and three grandchildren. Donald Trump received $90,000 in 1980 and $214,605 in 1981 through the fund.

Tax fraud

For four years, Fred Trump held shares in the Trump Palace condos, and in 1991, he sold them to his son well below their purchase price, masking what could be considered a hidden donation and giving him the benefit of a tax write-off. Fred Trump died in 1999. In 2018, when the matter came to light, the New York State tax department and New York City officials said they would investigate. The court found that Donald Trump had for years committed fraud against banks, insurers, and others by exaggerating his net worth and significantly overvaluing assets in documents used to make deals and secure financing.

Wealth of Donald Trump

The fraud included two of his residences: his apartment in Trump Tower (the statements claimed it was roughly triple its true size and value) and Mar-a-Lago (the statements inflated its value by approximately 22 times). In 2024, Trump was found liable for $355 million in disgorgement and roughly $100 million in interest. His oldest two sons (Donald Trump Jr. and Eric Trump) were ordered to pay $4 million each, while Allen Weisselberg was ordered to pay $1 million. After the decision, interest continued to accrue. As Donald Trump did not pay the judgment while he appealed the decision, by the end of 2024, the total he owed had increased to over $500 million.

Inheritance

In 1993, when Trump took two loans totaling $30 million from his siblings, their anticipated shares of Fred's estate amounted to $35 million each. Upon Fred Trump's death in 1999, his will divided $20 million (after taxes) among his surviving children.

Lawsuits

From the 1970s until he was elected president in 2016, Donald Trump and his businesses were involved in over 4,000 legal cases in U.S. federal and state courts, including battles with casino patrons, million-dollar real estate lawsuits, personal defamation lawsuits, and over 100 business tax disputes. At least 25 women accused him of sexual harassment or sexual assault.

Real estate

In 2015, in Manhattan, Trump's name was displayed on 17 buildings, plus Wollman Rink, and, in the Bronx, his name was on the Trump Golf Links golf course. Where his name appears on a building, it does not necessarily mean he owns the building; it represents his ownership of a unit within the building, a licensing agreement or condition of sale, or property management by the Trump Organization.

The Apprentice

From his television show The Apprentice and related licensing and endorsements, Trump received $427.4 million from the show's beginning in 2004 through 2018. Due largely to income received from the show, he paid a combined $70.1 million in federal taxes in 2005, 2006, and 2007. He paid no taxes in 2008. When he filed taxes in 2009, he declared over $700 million in business losses and, on that basis, he asked for a refund of his federal income taxes paid in 2005–2007. He was eventually refunded the $70.1 million plus over $2.7 million in interest. As of 2020, auditors were still considering the matter. If he is asked to return that federal refund, then, considering added interest and penalties, he may owe over $100 million to the federal government. The New York Times said: "He also received $21.2 million in state and local refunds, which often piggyback on federal filings," and he may be obligated to return those refunds, too.

Foundation

The Donald J. Trump Foundation was a New York–based tax-exempt private foundation formed in 1988 by Donald Trump and dissolved by court order in 2018 after various legal violations came to light.
The foundation was created to receive royalties from Trump's 1987 book Trump: The Art of the Deal as well as donations from others, for the stated purpose of distributing the funds to charitable causes. Trump's children Ivanka, Eric, and Donald Jr. served on the board, which did not meet after 1999. Trump stopped contributing to the foundation in 2008, but continued to solicit donations. The foundation's activities came under scrutiny during the 2016 presidential election campaign, initially by The Washington Post's David Fahrenthold. Law enforcement investigators subsequently discovered various ethical and legal violations, including failure to register in New York, self-dealing and illegal campaign contributions. In December 2016, Trump tried to dissolve the foundation, but the New York State Attorney General's office blocked dissolution pending completion of its investigations. Trump served as its president until January 2017, three days after his inauguration as U.S. president. On June 14, 2018, New York attorney general Barbara Underwood filed a civil suit against the foundation, Trump himself, and Trump's adult children—Ivanka, Eric and Donald Jr.—alleging "a shocking pattern of illegality" with respect to the foundation's money. On December 18, 2018, Underwood announced that the foundation had agreed to shut down under court supervision and distribute its remaining assets to court-approved charities, although she did not end investigations of the foundation and its directors. In November 2019, Trump admitted to using the foundation for his business and political purposes and was ordered to pay $2 million as restitution.

Additionally, Trump was required to reimburse $11,525 to the foundation, which was added to $1,797,598.30 already in the foundation's bank account. The money as well as the funds in the foundation's bank were paid to eight charities in December 2019.
The winding down of the foundation and the settlement did not end investigations of the foundation and its directors nor resolve any other potential prosecutions of Trump and others arising from the dealings by or through the foundation. On February 22, 2021, the Supreme Court in Trump v. Vance (no relation to now-Vice President JD Vance) rejected any further delay in the production of Trump's tax records by Trump's accountants Mazars, under an August 2019 subpoena. Mazars handed over to Vance millions of pages of documents containing Trump's tax returns from January 2011 to August 2019, as well as financial statements, engagement agreements, documents relating to the preparation and review of tax returns, and work papers and communications related to the tax returns.

First presidency

During his campaign, the Trump Organization owed nearly $20 million to L/P Daewoo, a company with ties to North Korea. This debt was not mentioned in the Trump campaign's financial disclosure filings. The loan was paid off five months into his presidency.
"I became President because of the brand...I think it's the hottest brand in the world," Trump testified in April 2023 in the New York civil investigation. He suggested that the "brand value" of the U.S. presidency had been worth to him "maybe $10 billion or something."
During his presidency, Trump reported over $1.6 billion of outside revenue and income from his companies, including the Trump Organization. "While Trump publicly took credit for donating his taxpayer-funded salary," Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington noted that the presidential salary he donated was not even one-thousandth of what he was earning as a businessman.
Political donations from small and large donors alike ended up funding Trump's personal businesses. During his presidency, his businesses received $8.5 million from political fundraising under his control, including the Trump campaign, and $2 million from other Republican fundraising sources. Though the Trump Organization claimed it would let federal employees who traveled with President Trump stay at his properties “for free” or “at cost”, it charged the Secret Service up to $1,185 per night, generating over $1.4 million in Secret Service lodging expenses over four years. This bill is charged to taxpayers and paid to the Trump Organization. During the first two years of his term, the governments of China, Turkey, Malaysia, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, and the United Arab Emirates spent a combined total of over $700,000 at the Trump International Hotel in Washington, D.C.

On March 17, 2023, Washington, D.C. representative Jamie Raskin, Ranking Member of the Committee on Oversight and Accountability, released a report on Donald Trump. Trump and his family members were accused of failing to publicly provide details about more than 100 foreign gifts he received. Some records disclosed that Saudi Arabia's crown prince Mohammad bin Salman provided 16 unreported gifts worth more than $45,000 to Trump, including swords and daggers. Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe gifted Golden Golf Clubs to Trump. India provided 17 gifts, with an estimated value of $47,000. On January 3, 2024, Raskin and House Oversight Committee Democrats released a report showing that Trump's businesses had received $7.8 million in payments from foreign governments during his presidency. On January 10, during a Fox News town hall, Trump admitted that foreign governments had paid him for hotel stays. "I was doing services for that," Trump said. Raskin demanded that Trump return all money received to the U.S. Treasury.

Because the ruling in the New York civil case banned him from “borrowing from New York-chartered banks until 2027,” the Financial Times wrote in February 2024, “this sharply raises the leverage of potential lenders in the Gulf and elsewhere.

There are no advantages to introducing a Dictatorship in a country

A dictatorship, where a single person or a small group of people have all the power, has several disadvantages, including limited political freedom and participation, suppression of freedom of expression, human rights violations, and an increased risk of war.

Disadvantages of dictatorship:

Limited political freedom: Citizens have limited or no ability to influence political decisions, and opposition parties may be banned or severely restricted.

Suppression of freedom of expression: Censorship and restrictions on press freedom are common.

Human rights violations: Dictatorships often prioritize the interests of the state over those of the individual, leading to human rights violations.

Increased risk of war: Dictatorships may be more likely to go to war than democracies.

Less economic development: Dictatorships may have poorer economic development than democracies.

Risk of corruption: Dictatorships may have higher levels of corruption.

Risk of personality cult: Dictators may use their power to create a personality cult.

Lack of political diversity: Restrictions on political participation and freedom of expression can hinder the development of society and prevent diverse interests from being represented.

Risk of violence and persecution: Citizens may fear being subjected to violence or persecution because of their opinions or identity.

Lack of accountability: Dictators are not accountable to the people.

I made some calculations. If 5 million people work it will give positive effects (tax and consumtion, new jobbs, new companies new tax on new jobbs and companies a multipel effects) 5 million working (low income) will give 2 million teachers work (pay 100 % of the cost of salary) to educate 40 million children. So the simpel solutin? Print 5 million new US passports and let ICE deliver those or pay for usless ICE workers and a foolish strategy and take the other costs (salary x 2 million teachers a year salary)

These are the immigration facts: Immigrants and immigration are good for United States of America, and the economy

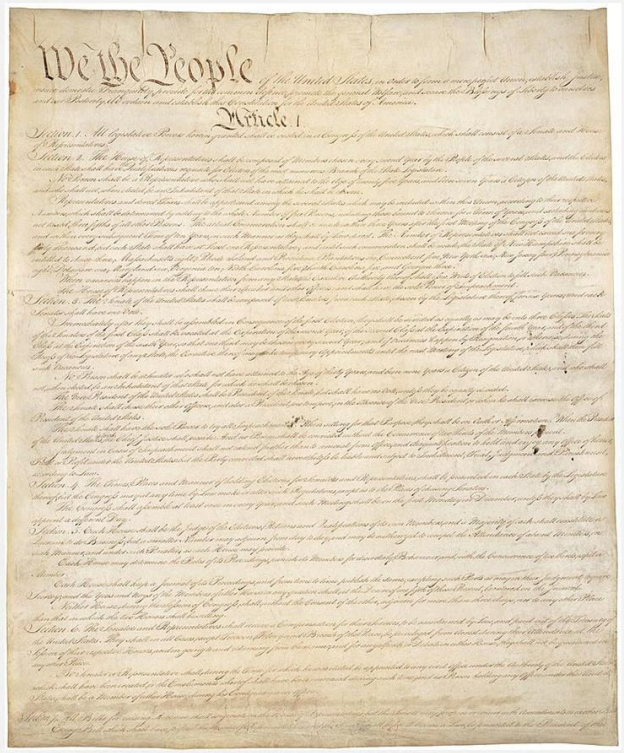
To mark the first 100 days of US President Donald Trump's second term, Human Rights Watch has catalogued 100 of the administration’s executive policies, orders, and actions

To mark the first 100 days of US President Donald Trump's second term, Human Rights Watch has catalogued 100 of the administration’s executive policies, orders, and actions that pose significant risks to the human rights of people in the United States and around the world. The extent and long-term impact of these policies and actions is not known. Many of these rightsabusive policies are moving ahead; many are also facing court challenges brought by those affected, and their outcome may take months or years to resolve. In many instances, ordinary people in the United States and abroad are publicly demonstrating against the measures. This list of 100 harms is not comprehensive. Instead, it seeks to illustrate the sheer breadth of the human rights implications of the administration’s actions during its first 100 days.



The Constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the United States of America.[3] It superseded the Articles of Confederation, the nation's first constitution, on March 4, 1789. Originally including seven articles, the Constitution delineates the frame of the federal government.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ALL PERSONS OF JAPANESE ANCESTRY

Living in the Following Area:

All that portion of the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, lying generally west of the north-south line established by Junipero Serra Boulevard, Worchester Avenue, and Nineteenth Avenue, and lying generally north of the east-west line established by California Street, to the intersection of Market Street, and thence on Market Street to San Francisco Bay.

All Japanese persons, both alien and non-alien, will be evacuated from the above-designated area by 12:00 o'clock noon Tuesday, April 7, 1942.

No Japanese person will be permitted to enter or leave the above-described area after 8:00 a. m., Thursday, April 2, 1942, without obtaining special permission from the Provost Marshal at the Civil Control Station located at:

1701 Van Ness Avenue
San Francisco, California

The Civil Control Station is equipped to assist the Japanese population affected by this evacuation in the following ways:

1. Give advice and instructions on the evacuation.
2. Provide services with respect to the management, leasing, sale, storage or other disposition of most kinds of property including: real estate, business and professional equipment, buildings, household goods, boats, automobiles, livestock, etc.
3. Provide temporary residence elsewhere for all Japanese in family groups.
4. Transport persons and a limited amount of clothing and equipment to their new residence, as specified below.

The Following Instructions Must Be Observed:

1. A responsible member of each family, preferably the head of the family, or the person in whose name most of the property is held, and each individual living alone, will report to the Civil Control Station to receive further instructions. This must be done between 8:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m., Thursday, April 2, 1942, or between 8:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m., Friday, April 3, 1942.

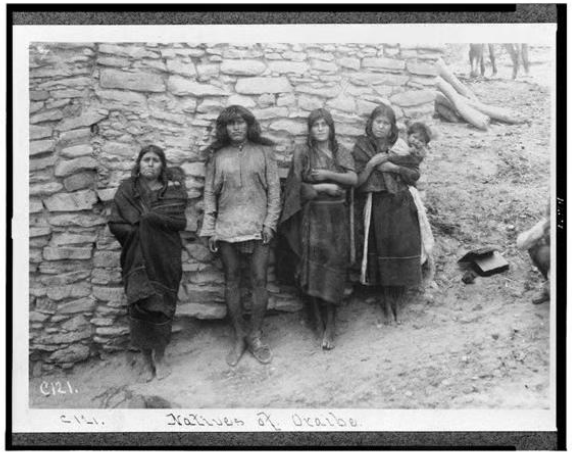
Genocide

American Indians experienced some of the worst massacres and grossest injustices in history while Ulysses S. Grant was in office.
Grant took office in 1869 with plans to drastically reform federal Indian policy. In his inaugural address, the 18th president pledged to rethink the management of Natives and resolve problems in the deeply corrupt Indian Bureau.
"The proper treatment of the original occupants of this land the Indians (is) one deserving of careful study," he said in his inaugural address. "I will favor any course toward them which tends to their civilization and ultimate citizenship."
Grant realized that his expansionist goals required the removal of Indians from desirable land. His Indian Peace Policy, designed to reform the Indian Bureau and remove corrupt agents, also called for rigorous agricultural training on reservations and established schools and churches that would transform Indians into Christian citizens.
Indian chiefs Sitting Bull, Gall, Chief Joseph, Geronimo and Cochise led their people into wars against the United States in efforts to preserve their land and ways of life. In 1870, Oglala Chief Red Cloud visited Grant at the White House, where he condemned Indian policy and described his peoples' suffering.
Two years into his presidency, Grant signed the Indian Appropriations Act of 1871, which ceased federal recognition of tribes as entities "with whom the United States may contract by treaty." The act ended the government's treaty-making process and the practice of acknowledging tribes as sovereign nations. It also signaled the start of official Indian assimilation policies.

When European settlers arrived in the Americas, historians estimate there were over 10 million Native Americans living there. By 1900, their estimated population was under 300,000. Native Americans were subjected to many different forms of violence, all with the intention of destroying the community. In the late 1800s, blankets from smallpox patients were distributed to Native Americans in order to spread disease. There were several wars, and violence was encouraged; for example, European settlers were paid for each Penobscot person they killed. In the 19th century, 4,000 Cherokee people died on the Trail of Tears, a forced march from the southern U.S. to Oklahoma. In the 20th century, civil rights violations were common, and discrimination continues to this day.



The USA violates 100 of rights for prisoners and rights for humanity. Read the following rules and it is clear that keeping prisoners in Florida in a swamp with high temperatures and total isolation, substandard surface to stay on, substandard minimum standards within most rules in conventions. The accommodation is at a level reminiscent of German camps in the years 1933 - 1945. Exception gassing of prisoners and burning of the bodies. Alligator Alcatraz is similar to basement storage in Sweden and where discarded objects or other things are stored, but never animals or people. Building these prisons indicates a total lack of empathy, which is characteristic of a Sociopath. It puts a stamp on the USA to act similar to the Nazi regime in Germany in the years 1933 - 1945.

Johann Trump, born in Bobenheim in 1789, moved to the nearby village of Kallstadt where his grandson, Friedrich Trump, the grandfather of Donald Trump, was born in 1869. This German heritage was long concealed by Donald Trump's father, Fred Trump.

How could it go so wrong?

History repeats itself. It usually only takes 70 to 100 years, and grandchildren and great-grandchildren are at risk of making almost the same mistakes as their older relatives. In Germany in 1923, Adolf Hitler and his criminal gang of Nazis tried to seize power in the Weimar Republic of Germany. It was historically repeated in the United States in 2021. Donald Trump single-handedly created a stir remotely and, like the Nazis, manipulated the sufficiently uncritical. The people certainly have a core of people who believe what a charismatic leader says. They have already made up their minds before he has even spoken. Adolf Hitler and Donald Trump came from completely different backgrounds. Adolf from a home where his father abused him every week and his mother comforted Adolf and convinced him that he was destined for something great in the future.

How could it go so wrong?

Adolf Hitler was a corporal during World War I, while Donald Trump and his father obtained a fake medical certificate stating that Donald Trump had a heel spur and the certificate exempted Donald from his obligation to serve in the Vietnam War. Father Frank and Donald already committed a criminal act there. The crimes are written off, but not the story that it was a crime. Father Frank trained Donald in the real estate business. In return, Donald received lessons in Racism. The real estate company disadvantaged people of color and was noticed for this.

As a child, Donald had shown early signs of his chronic sociopathy. At the age of five, he threw a rock at a sleeping baby and at eight, he punched a teacher in the eye with his fist.

Donald's schooling was fraught with problems and many delays. DT became his nickname.

Alois Hitler
Father

Adolf's father often abused Adolf. He sought comfort from his mother. She persuaded Adolf to endure because he was destined for something great in the world.

Klara Hitler
Mother

Klara Hitler brainwashed Adolf so much that he really believed that he was chosen for some great task in the future. There are witnesses from Adolf's school days. He was heard to say that he believed this almost as fact. His worldview later in life matches what he had been manipulated to believe about himself.

Adolf

Alois tried to browbeat his son into obedience, while Adolf did his best to be the opposite of whatever his father wanted. Alois would also beat his son, although his mother tried to protect him from regular beatings.

Hitler changed from a confident, outgoing, conscientious student to a morose, detached boy who constantly fought with his father and teachers. Paula Hitler recalled how Adolf was a teenage bully who would often slap her.

Adolf Hitler was beaten by his father every week and Adolf sought comfort from his mother.

She brainwashed Adolf with the mantra you are destined for something great in the future, you are chosen for something great.

The mother was right. Hitler is believed to have murdered about 17 million people.

Not on his own, but he ordered strategies that had that effect.

Donald Trump became the president of his father's real-estate business in 1971. Two years later, they were sued by the U.S. Justice Department's Civil Rights Division for racial discrimination against black people.

Fred and his wife, Mary Trump, provided over $1 billion (in 2018 currency) to their children overall, avoiding over $500 million in gift taxes. Fred transferred the ownership of most of his apartment buildings to his children, who several years later sold them for over 16 times their previously declared worth. In 1927, Trump was arrested at a Ku Klux Klan demonstration; there is no conclusive evidence that he supported the organization. From World War II onwards, to avoid associations with Nazism, Trump denied his German ancestry and also supported Jewish causes. Fred reputedly secured Donald a deferment from the Vietnam War by prioritizing maintenance for a tenant who, ostensibly in exchange, diagnosed Donald with bone spurs. Fred Trump paid his children each about $20,000 a year, equivalent to $265,000 a year in 2024. Trump was a millionaire at age eight by contemporary standards. Hitler came to power in 1933 and after a short time Germany was transformed into a dictatorship. In 1932 Hitler received 33.1% of the votes in a democratic election. But the SA troops had influenced the election with their threats, where they were seen in their brown uniforms.

Donald Trump won the 2014 election but received 2.8 million fewer votes than Hillary Clinton. The election was rigged with the help of Russia. Trump was already a Russian agent since 1987 by the name of Krasnov. Russia managed to get him elected.

How could it go so wrong?

Hitler learned to come to power through democratic elections and then he got power over the army and the police. He then invented a crisis, when he easily burned down the government building in Berlin and found a guilty communist. This required new laws that were invented and which meant that Germany's democracy was replaced with a dictatorship.

Donald Trump almost completely followed Adolf Hitler's methods of taking power

THE DANGEROUS CASE OF DONALD TRUMP

27 Psychiatrists and Mental Health Experts Assess a President

Bandy Lee, M.D., M.Div.
Organizer of the Yale "Duty to Warn" Conference

The Dangerous Case of Donald Trump is a 2017 book edited by Bandy X. Lee, a forensic psychiatrist, containing essays from 27 psychiatrists, psychologists, and other mental health professionals describing the "clear and present danger" that US President Donald Trump's mental health poses to the "nation and individual well being". A second edition updated and expanded the book with additional essays. Lee maintains that the book remains strictly a public service, and all royalties were donated to the public good to remove any conflict of interest.

The authors argue that Trump's mental health affects the mental health of the people of the United States and that he places the country at grave risk of involving it in a war and of undermining democracy itself due to his dangerous pathology.

The prison in El Salvador was first announced for a capacity of 20,000 detainees. The Salvadoran government later doubled its reported capacity, to 40,000. As Human Rights Watch explained to the UN Human Rights Committee in July 2024, the population size raises concerns that prison authorities will not be able to provide individualized treatment to detainees, thereby contravening the UN Standard Minimum Rules for the Treatment of Prisoners. prisons in El Salvador, are denied communication with their relatives and lawyers, and only appear before courts in online hearings, often in groups of several hundred detainees at the same time. The Salvadoran government has described people held in CECOT as "terrorists," and has said that they "will never leave." Human Rights Watch is not aware of any detainees who have been released from that prison.

How did the immigrants come to America? Who were they? What Where did they come from? In this book, Edward Steiner tells of the experiences of immigrants from Hungry, Poland, Scandanavia, Germany, Italy and many other countries as they leave everything and board a boat to an unknown future. Steiner was born to a well-to-do Jewish-Slovak-Hungarian family in a Carpathian village, and was educated in Vienna and Heidelberg and immigrated to the United States in 1886.

In the most famous episode from Cervantes' novel Don Quixote, the protagonist mistakes windmills (US City) for giants (US People) and charges at them with his lance (ICE), only to be knocked off his horse (Trials 2028) when the lance breaks against a sail. His squire, Sancho Panza,(Democrats) tries to tell him they are merely windmills, but Don Quixote, convinced of sorcery by an evil enchanter (Putin), insists that the windmills were, in fact, giants.

With Poor Immigrants to America by Stephen Graham

Read in English by Ted Lienhart.
Stephen Graham, a Brit with Russian language skills, traveled by sea in 1913 with a group of poor Russian and other Slavic immigrants to New York, then cross-country with part of them by foot as far as Chicago. This is a narrative of their experiences. It is also filled with Graham's observations and reflections about American life and American views on a wide range of topics. (Summary by Ted Lienhart)

Russian Americans are Americans of full or partial Russian ancestry. The term can apply to recent Russian immigrants to the United States, as well as to Russian settlers and their descendants in the 19th-century Russian possessions in what is now Alaska. Russian Americans comprise the largest Eastern European and East Slavic population in the U.S., the second-largest Slavic population after Polish Americans, the nineteenth-largest ancestry group overall, and the eleventh largest from Europe.

Donald Trump: The U.S.'s Adolf Hitler

The history books will undoubtedly record Donald Trump as one of the worst leaders in American history, perhaps rivaling the ignominy of Andrew Johnson or Warren G. Harding. However, there's a disturbing parallel between Trump's political rise and the ascent of another infamous figure - Adolf Hitler. Both men exploited the ignorance and biases of their respective electorates to seize power, only to unleash chaos and destruction upon the world.

Hitler's early life was marked by trauma and failure. Regular beatings by his father, and a near-drowning incident, could have shaped a vulnerable child into a more empathetic adult. Instead, his mother's constant reassurances of his destined greatness had a profound impact, fostering an arrogant, self-aggrandizing worldview. Similarly, Trump's childhood was defined by his father's wealth and his own early depravity, such as bullying and sexual misconduct. These formative experiences laid the groundwork for his later political bombast and transactional ethics.

In 1923, Hitler attempted a failed coup, the Beer Hall Putsch, which resulted in the deaths of four police officers. This episode could have discredited him permanently, but Hitler survived and eventually released from prison. The Nazi Party capitalized on his charismatic leadership and anti-Semitic rhetoric to win local elections, eventually seizing national power in 1933. Trump, too, has a history of spectacular failures, from his ill-fated casinos to his bogus university scam. Yet, he managed to woo American voters with divisive rhetoric, manufacturing a cult of personality around his supposed greatness.

Same story 491 before Christ (Darius) and 2026 after Christ (Trump)

In 491 BC, the Dictator Darius sent envoys to several Greek cities with demands for land and water. Darius had noted with hatred how the state of Athens had become the closest thing to today's democracies and with a lot of power among the people. He wants to quell this development in time. Democracy was born around 500 BC with Athens' unexpected development away from the usual rule through a Dictatorship. The request for water and land is the traditional method for creating demands for submission.

Deaths of 52 people who died in ICE custody from 2017-2021. Year 32 dead. In 2025 – making it the agency's deadliest year in more than two decades, as the Trump administration moved to detain a record number of people. Using Gun Violence Archive data and news clips, The Trace has identified 16 incidents in which immigration agents opened fire and another 15 incidents in which agents held someone at gunpoint since the crackdown began. At least three people have been shot observing or documenting immigration raids, and five people have been shot while driving away from traffic stops or evading an enforcement action. On September 30, agents raided a Chicago apartment building and held half-asleep tenants and their children at gunpoint. Renee Good was one of four people who have been killed. Another seven people have been injured. Experts say the number of gun-related incidents underscores the excessive use of force being applied by agents. "Everything about these incidents indicates that these are probably shootings that did not need to happen,"

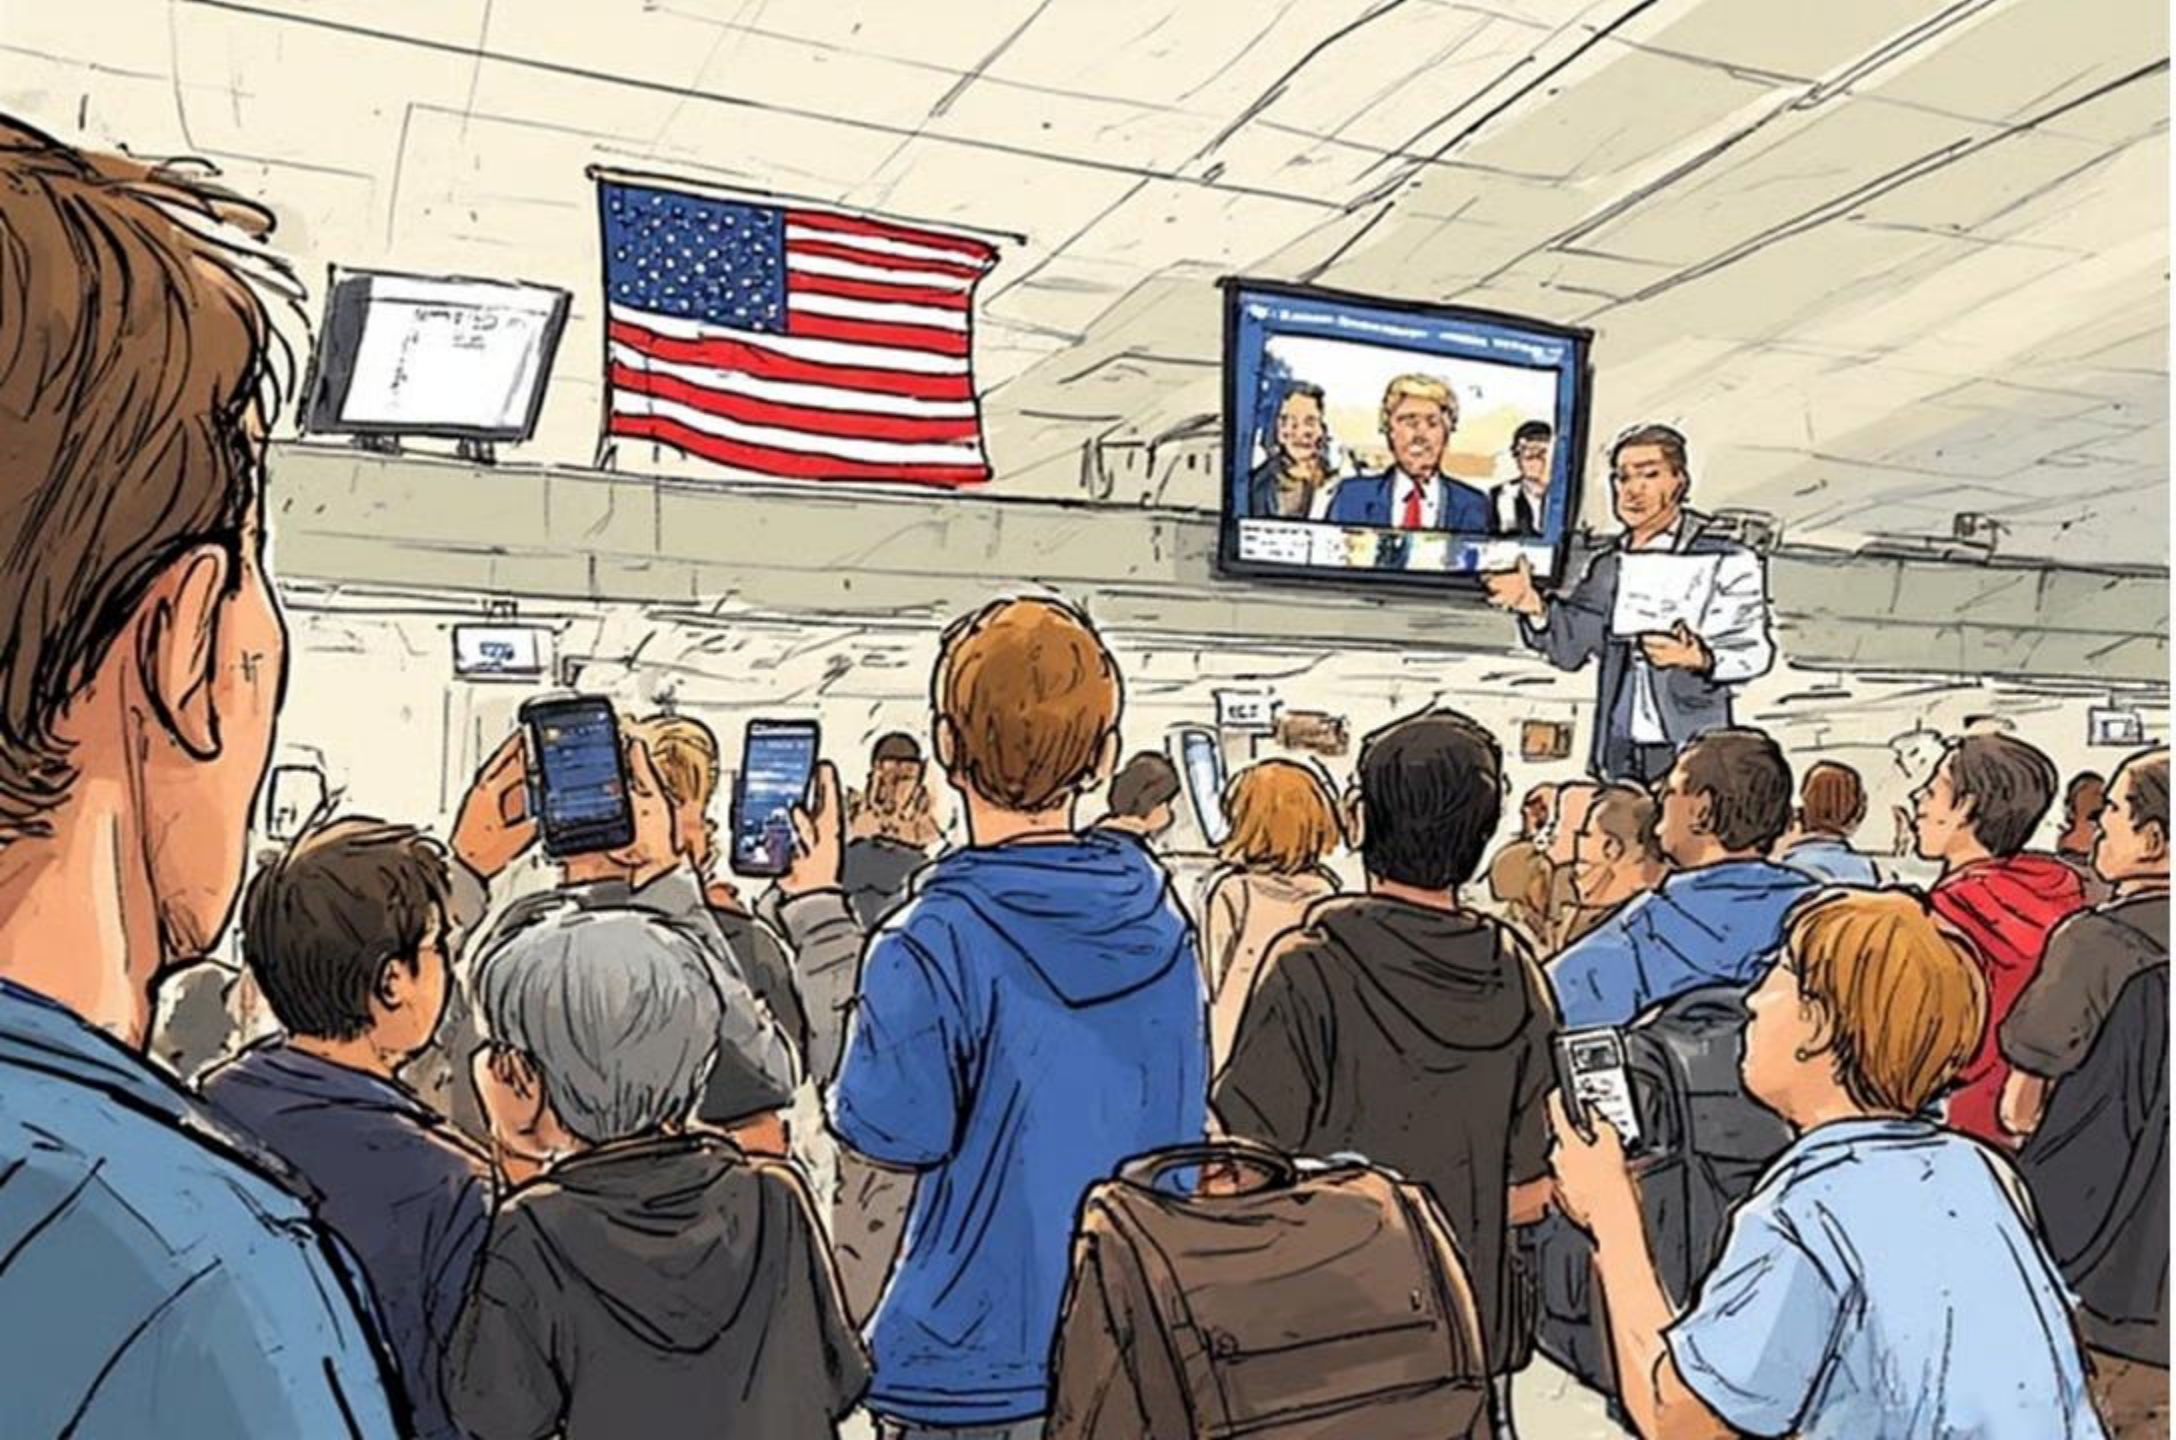
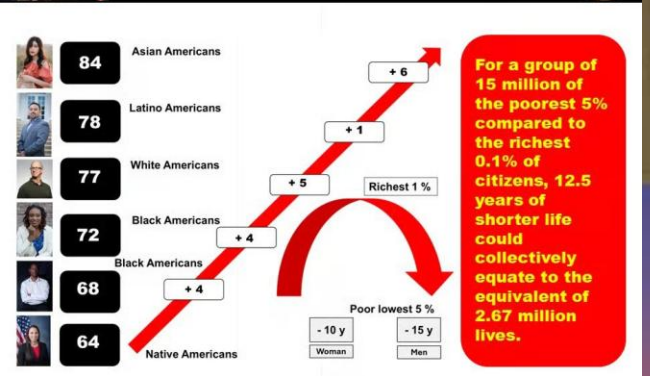
About Donald Trump and his goal

Donald Trump has not changed much in personality since the age of eight. At that age, it is possible to diagnose a sociopath. There are few students at the age of eight who have punched their teacher in the eye just because they did not like the music that was being played in music lessons. Donald Trump was so often summoned to the Principal for admonitions that he was nicknamed DT (Quarterly Sitting), which fits the English language and also the initials of his name. Several psychologists have stated in writing that Trump is a sociopath and there are books on the subject. Recently, another diagnosis has also been found, such as Dementia. The combination of Sociopath and Dementia is very dangerous and unsuitable for people who lead entire countries. In 1987, the KGB arranged for Donald Trump to be invited to Moscow and the KGB lured him with the idea that Trump could build a hotel in Moscow and suggested that Trump should seek politics. Trump went home and paid for advertisements in newspapers that favored the USSR Soviet Union. The KGB gave Donald Trump the name Krasnov as an agent/asset. Later, Trump had made bad investments and his real estate company needed to borrow more money, which only Russian banks agreed to. Already here, Trump ended up in a position of dependence on the Soviet Union and the KGB. Vladimir Putin or Donald Trump in the White House in 2025, it is difficult to notice a difference in the policies carried out.

The dependence on Russia is clearly noticeable. Donald Trump admires Fascism and wants to become a dictator despite the American Constitution being written to prevent tyrants from coming to power. Power has been distributed between three different parties. Donald Trump ignores the law and may not even have read the Constitution. The dictatorship begins with attacks on freedom of speech, then on political opponents, then on the population that does not have the right attitude, and on designated groups. Adolf Hitler pointed to Jews, Roma, sick, disabled children, mentally ill, and killed about 21 million people from 1933 to 1945 (His collaborator Nazi organization) Camps existed from 1934. Donald Trump has, among others, Steven Miller who writes strategies with Fascist templates and strategies. The choice of groups that are like the Nazi Jews are undocumented people. These are collected in raids with ICE, an organization similar to the Gestapo. It would have been more economical to print new passports and make these citizens because they increase GDP by 0.3% each year through taxes and other positive effects. The Trump strategy causes human suffering, the same as with the fist in the teacher's eye 71 years ago. Now Trump is targeting the EU. He wants to destroy and interfere in its strategies. He wants to manipulate countries like Poland, Hungary, Austria, and others so that they leave the EU. It also makes it easier for Russia. Donald Trump is a criminal with 34 convictions and he is also a traitor to the USA and NATO. The fact that he is not already in prison or removed from leadership of the USA is due to parts of the population in the USA. In 1932 there was a similar group of voters born from 1850 to 1913 and 33.1% loved Adolf Hitler and voted him as leader. As a democratic leader. But Hitler already had plans in 1923 to become a dictator and tried but he ended up in prison for attempted coup. The strategy was changed to win an election democratically and then become a dictator. The same as Donald Trump has started in 2025.





Transferring money to the rich will not increase their lifespan, but taking money from the poorest will lead to extra deaths.

Probably several hundred thousand life years.

Washington trials 2028 - 2029

This story is about a real case. The Nuremberg Trials, which were the aftermath of war crimes and crimes against humanity committed by the Nazis during and before World War II.

The story that is also included is a comparison with a pure novel text and a pure fantasy. No one has committed any crimes that appear in the text and it is only there to be able to compare with the real crime from the 1930s and 1940s. The fantasy case has been chosen to take place in the future and the people can clearly not be guaranteed to be alive in 2028 or 2029.

The text, a draft of a script, is completely written by an AI service. Anyone who wants to try to write their own script for a book is free. Feel free to change the names of people before a book is possibly published.

Now it is clear that Donald Trump wants to become a dictator in the USA. Will his party friends also become complicit in the crimes that need to be committed along the way? Will we see a historic trial like the ones in Germany, when Nazis received their sentences and punishments?

The Nuremberg trials were held by the Allies against representatives of the defeated Nazi Germany for plotting and carrying out invasions of other countries across Europe and atrocities against their citizens in World War II.

Psychiatrist, author and former member of parliament and minister Claes Andersson says he stands by his statement in the Elders' Council on Yle Vega on Monday. Donald Trump suffers from a personality disorder, he says. The fact that Claes Andersson is now expressing his opinion is because he is a specialist in psychiatry by training. He has worked in psychiatry for over 30 years, including as a chief physician in Ekenäs, at Hesperia Hospital in Helsinki and at Veikkola Sanatorium. He has treated many narcissists and psychopaths during his active career as a doctor, and has his experience to rely on.

- Narcissistic psychopaths are by no means uncommon, he says. What is a narcissist then? A narcissist is self-absorbed, and lacks the ability to empathize with others. He lacks the ability to empathize. Therefore, he does not take responsibility or feel guilty for anything, Andersson explains, adding that despite this, the narcissist is often both charismatic and seductive.

And he maintains that when it comes to Trump, the case is rarely clear. He says he can make this diagnosis remotely, because the symptoms are so clear. And Trump has offered them himself - in everything he has said to cheering crowds and in TV speeches.
And on Twitter.

Narcissus painting by Caravaggio, depicting Narcissus gazing upon the water after falling in love with his own reflection.

Narcissistic personality disorder (NPD) is a personality disorder characterized by a life-long pattern of exaggerated feelings of self-importance, an excessive need for admiration, and a diminished ability to empathize with other people's feelings. Narcissistic personality disorder is one of the sub-types of the broader category known as personality disorders.

Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders

Personality disorders are a class of mental disorders characterized by enduring and inflexible maladaptive patterns of behavior, cognition, and inner experience, exhibited across many contexts and deviating from those accepted by any culture. These patterns develop by early adulthood, and are associated with significant distress or impairment. Criteria for diagnosing personality disorders are listed in the sixth chapter of the International Classification of Diseases (ICD) and in the American Psychiatric Association's Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM).
There is no standard treatment for NPD. Its high comorbidity with other mental disorders influences treatment choice and outcomes. Psychotherapeutic treatments generally fall into two categories: psychoanalytic/psychodynamic and cognitive behavioral therapy, with growing support for integration of both in therapy. However, there is an almost complete lack of studies determining the effectiveness of treatments. One's subjective experience of the mental disorder, as well as their agreement to and level of engagement with treatment, are highly dependent on their motivation to change.

What Happens if the President Issues a Potentially Illegal Order to the Military?

What Happens if the President Issues a Potentially Illegal Order to the Military?

Uniformed commanders themselves have a specific obligation to reject an order that's unlawful, if they make that determination.

All military members swear to "preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic." Within that oath is the implication that service members hold allegiance to the rule of law.

The oath of enlistment goes on to ask service members to follow orders, but adds that it must be done "according to regulations and the Uniform Code of Military Justice," or UCMJ. Both Article 90 of the UCMJ, the charge of willfully disobeying a superior commissioned officer, and Article 92, failure to obey an order, say that they apply only to lawful orders.

During a March 2023 rally in Iowa, Trump suggested that he would use federal troops in cities like New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco, which he argued have become crime dens.

"It is critical that the Insurrection Act specify what actions are permitted and what actions are prohibited, lest it become a vehicle for presidents to assert unlimited authority backed by military force." If an order is deemed lawful, a military commander who still has objections has little recourse but either to appeal to some higher echelon, carry out the order, or resign rennan Center wrote in a 2023 legal journal article.

You are not required to follow an unlawful order.

That would be in violation of all the international laws of armed conflict.

All army officers, those who command the regular troops, take and oath of allegiance to the CONSTITUTION, and NOT to whoever the current POTUS is. The POTUS is Commander-in Chief, meaning that he/she will have the final say over military policy, but the army does NOT have to obey his/her orders if they violate the law. One of the characteristics of Fascism is where the army serves a specific leader. In Weimar Germany, the individual army officers and troops took an oath to serve the German constitution. Adolf Hitler changed this early in his reign to have all new officers and troops take an oath to serve HIM.

As the Trump administration carries out what many observers say are illegal military strikes against vessels in the Caribbean allegedly smuggling drugs, six Democratic members of Congress issued a video on Nov. 18, 2025, telling the military "You can refuse illegal orders" and "You must refuse illegal orders." Since Trump returned to office, many of his actions have alarmed international human rights observers. His administration has deported immigrants without due process, held detainees in inhumane conditions, threatened the forcible removal of Palestinians from the Gaza Strip and deployed both the National Guard and federal military troops to Los Angeles, Portland, Oregon, Chicago and other cities to quell largely peaceful protests or enforce immigration laws. Justice and the U.S. Manual for Courts-Martial, service members must obey lawful orders and disobey unlawful orders. Unlawful orders are those that clearly violate the U.S. Constitution, international human rights standards or the Geneva Conventions. Service members who follow an illegal order can be held liable and court-martialed or subject to prosecution by international tribunals. Following orders from a superior is no defense. Disturbing answers to soldiers: When asked if they would follow an order to drop a nuclear bomb on a civilian city, for example, 69% of troops who received that question first said they would obey the order. But when the respondents were asked to think about and comment on the duty to disobey unlawful orders before being asked if they would follow the order to bomb, the percentage who would obey the order dropped 13 points to 56%.

George Washington saw Dunald Trump coming

George Washington saw Donald Trump coming

George Washington saw Donald Trump coming. In a letter to General Lafayette in June 1787, 238 years ago, Washington warned of "some aspiring demagogue who will not consult the interest of his country so much as his own ambitious view." Washington saw this risk as central to America's future as an organized democracy. In his "Farewell Address" of 1796, the first president predicted that feverish parties "are likely in the course of time and things to become potent engines by which cunning, ambitious, and unprincipled men will be enabled to subvert the power of the people, and to usurp for themselves the reins of government, destroying afterwards the very engines which have lifted them to unjust dominion."

Washington fortsatte: "The disorders and miseries which results gradually incline the minds of men to seek security and repose in the absolute power of an individual, and sooner or later the chief of some prevailing faction, more able or more fortunate than his competitors, turns his disposition to the purposes of his own elevation on the ruins of public liberty."

AI Fantacy story

The People's Court was established on 24 April 1934 by decree of Reich Chancellor Adolf Hitler. The proximate cause of its creation was the outcome of the Reichstag fire trial in front of the Reich Court of Justice (Reichsgericht) in which all but one of the defendants were acquitted. However, Hitler had pronounced the necessity for a "national tribunal" to execute "tens of thousands" of people he regarded as traitors in Mein Kampf.

The President	Senate and House of Representatives	Supreme Court	Military power and police force
Only military power remains as the last protection before a real coup d'état can be carried out	In the hands of the president when the Republican Party has the power in terms of votes	In the hands of the President when elected Judges follow the President's will more than the law or the verdicts are predominantly as the President wants	Partly in the hands of the President as long as the military doesn't consider them violating the Constitution

The US Constitution's General Clause against the establishment of a Dictatorship or an Authoritarian Regime

Donald Trump and the Republican Party are violating the American Constitution. The idea behind the separation of powers in the Constitution was to prevent Tyrants who could possibly appear later in history. George Washington explained this in a letter to one of his Generals. The Constitution is poorly written, as it lacks a general clause that requires new elections when the intution is broken not to introduce or attempt to introduce a dictatorship. Donald Trump has shown in 2025 that there is no such clause. He has shown his plan openly and there is an ongoing plan to introduce a dictatorship in the United States. The military would take over power when the general clause was broken. New elections would be called and the President would be kept under house arrest and deprived of power. The Supreme Court, if it participated in the coup attempt, would be dissolved and the Military would assist with its lawyers through a new election. The highest officers in the various branches of the armed forces and the police would form a temporary board with a chairman and as a temporary organization to carry out the same task as a President. No violations of the Constitution may be tolerated. Should this happen, the then board will be dissolved and a new one will be selected through public election by the public. Advantages of the General Clause are that plans that have already been started, as in Donald Trump's case, can be stopped by force and quickly. The Constitution comes into effect again and those who violate it have been neutralized immediately. The criminal penalty is investigated as soon as possible after new elections. Those guilty can be found at various levels. The President, his complicity, Republican senators and in the House of Representatives. Military and police officers who have violated the Constitution can be searched in court.

Donald Trump's failing health

27 psychologists in the US wrote a book in 2017 and warned about what could happen if Donald Trump became president.

They were largely right. Much of what they pointed out has been implemented or attempted by Donald Trump.

It has damaged the US economy and reputation in the world.

Two psychologists have analyzed that Donald Trump now shows the disease Dementia.

They believe that he is also a sociopath, which in combination with Dementia is extra dangerous, especially with the power a President has.

instead, this authority comes from laws that are exceptions to the general prohibition in the Posse Comitatus Act, which prohibits federal troops from performing civilian law enforcement roles. The main exception is the Insurrection Act of 1807, which allows the President to deploy military forces for domestic law enforcement in specific, limited situations.

These situations include when:

A state governor requests help to suppress an insurrection. There is "unlawful obstruction, combinations, or assemblages, or rebellion" against the federal government that makes it "impracticable to enforce" laws through ordinary judicial proceedings. Federal law is being opposed or obstructed, or when the president needs to enforce federal laws or protect civil rights when a state is unable or unwilling to do so. The Insurrection Act gives the president broad discretion in deciding when to invoke it, but it is intended as a tool of last resort for genuine emergencies where civilian authorities are overwhelmed.

2026 United States House of Representatives elections

The 2026 United States House of Representatives elections are scheduled to be held on Tuesday, November 3, 2026, as part of the 2026 midterm elections during President Donald Trump's second, non-consecutive term. Voters will elect representatives from all 435 congressional districts across each of the 50 U.S. states, as well as five of the six non-voting delegates from the District of Columbia and the inhabited U.S. territories. Special elections may also be held on various dates throughout 2026. Numerous other federal, state, and local elections, including elections to the Senate, will also be held on this date. The winners of this election will serve in the 120th United States Congress, with seats apportioned among the states based on the 2020 United States census.

Donald Trump

Donald Trump is a convicted felon in 34 different cases. He has not yet been in prison. He is using his power and violating the Constitution. People who have permission to stay in the United States have been imprisoned and without receiving legal representation. Some have also been deported on the wrong grounds and to very dangerous prison camps in South America. Trump has violated 100 laws regarding human rights. The military and ICE are used as police and they use excessive force against the population. Pepper spray, tear gas and physical violence against women, children and the disabled. Breaking people down, sitting on them. Helicopter raids where the residents of entire buildings are imprisoned without any real basis. Trump uses strategies like Putin with invented crimes without evidence and to get revenge. Trump issues decrees and cancels already granted funds that the Senate has decided on. The president does not have the right to unilaterally revoke already legislative decisions on appropriations. Trump's crimes are recorded continuously. But the Supreme Court in the United States has begun to rule questionably according to the Constitution. For example, when it comes to sending soldiers to different cities to perform police duties that regular police are there for.

Across Trump's four indictments, he has been charged with a total of 88 criminal counts. As of December 10, 2024, he has been found guilty of 34 criminal counts and 44 charges were dismissed.
On May 30, 2024, a Manhattan jury found former President Donald Trump (R) guilty of 34 counts of falsifying business records in the first degree, making Trump the first U.S. president to ever be indicted on and convicted of felony crimes after his time in office. Trump's sentencing took place on January 10, 2025. Judge Juan Merchan sentenced Trump to an unconditional discharge, meaning Trump would have the conviction on his record, but the sentence carried no jail time, fines, or probation.
Trump responded to the sentence, saying, "The Radical Democrats have lost another pathetic, un American Witch Hunt." Trump said he would appeal the ruling. Trump's legal team can file a notice of appeal within 30 days of his sentencing date, and the appeal would be heard by a New York Appellate Division court. The grand jury had voted to charge Trump with 34 counts of falsifying business records in the first degree. The trial began on April 15, 2024. Judge Juan Merchan presided over the grand jury and the case. The court unsealed the original indictment on June 9, 2023, which contained 37 criminal counts.

Federal indictment (2020 election certification case

A federal grand jury charged former President Donald Trump (R) with four criminal counts related to the certification of the 2020 presidential election in August 2023. Trump pleaded not guilty. Judge Tanya S. Chutkan oversaw the proceedings.

The original indictment was filed in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. It included the following charges alleged against Trump:
conspiracy to defraud the United States "by using dishonesty, fraud and deceit to obstruct the nation's process of collecting, counting, and certifying the results of the presidential election;"
conspiracy to obstruct the certification of the electoral vote on January 6, 2021;
obstruction of the certification of the electoral vote on January 6, 2021; and conspiracy "to injure, oppress, threaten, and intimidate one or more persons in the free exercise and enjoyment of" the right to vote and have one's vote counted.

In July 2024, the Supreme Court ruled on Trump's claim of presidential immunity in the case, saying in a 6-3 decision written by Chief Justice John Roberts that presidents have absolute immunity for core constitutional powers and no immunity for unofficial actions. The case was remanded to a lower court to determine which charges in the indictment could proceed.[79] Smith released a superseding indictment on August 27, 2024, which maintained the same charges against Trump with an adjusted presentation to adhere to the Supreme Court's ruling.

Georgia indictment

Former President Donald Trump (R) was indicted on 13 criminal charges related to interference in the 2020 presidential election results in Georgia. Trump pleaded not guilty on August 31. Judge Scott McAfee struck three of these charges for lack of specificity on March 13, 2024, and struck an additional two charges based on the U.S. Constitution's Supremacy Clause on September 12, 2024.

Deportation and Detention of Student Protesters and Foreign Scholars

Action: In 2025, the Trump administration expanded its use of immigration enforcement to target foreign nationals, particularly students, researchers, and legal residents—some for accused of engaging in, or merely being adjacent to pro-Palestinian activism, some without any explanation at all. While the administration cites national security and antisemitism concerns, many of those detained or threatened with deportation have not been accused of any criminal behavior. The crackdown appears designed to chill speech and dissent on college campuses.

Key examples include:
Mahmoud Khalil, a legal permanent resident and Columbia University student, was arrested in March without access to counsel and sent to a detention center in El Paso.
Yunseo Chung, a Columbia undergraduate and green card holder, was targeted by ICE using a pretextual arrest warrant; a federal judge later stayed her deportation.
Rümeysa Öztürk, a Turkish Fulbright scholar at Tufts, was detained after co-authoring a student editorial; she was released on bond after a media outcry.
Kseniia Petrova, a Russian biomedical researcher at Harvard Medical School, was detained by ICE despite no involvement in protests. Her colleagues say she was targeted solely due to her visa status and association with student groups under investigation.
Ranjani Srinivasan, an Indian national at Columbia, had her visa revoked and chose to self-deport to avoid further legal jeopardy. She was not alleged to have broken any laws.
